Ohio Governor and McAdee Appear Close Contenders

DARK HORSE MAY BE WINNER

No Certainty at This Stage as to Presidential Nominees

(Special to the Lima Daily News and Times-Democrat from the Washington Star.)

WASHINGTON.—With the republican national convention almost at hand, and the democratic gathering at San Francisco only a little farther away, pre-convention presidential politics is beginning to take on a "homestretch" aspect. As the turn for the run home is made the gamble is as uncertain as it ever was in any horse race. A few stragglers are out of the running, to all intents and purposes, but it looks as if gameness and generalship in the last furlong will decide the outcome in both contests.

With the bulk of delegates to both conventions chosen and no candidate in either party having a commanding lead of pledged or instructed followers, the season of small conference behind closed doors is at hand. The fellows who are skilled in the various ways of manipulation have taken a hand in the game and will see what they can do in the way of shaping the destinies of the nation.

The republican situation holds the least interest, both because the convention of that party is to be held first and because of the greater advertising they received. Wood, Johnson and Lowden are the names most often heard when the outcome at Chicago is discussed, but there is no very general opinion that the eventual winner will be one of those three. Dispatches to The Star from its political correspondents, to be published tomorrow, indicate that there is a very widespread belief that a man not yet mentioned, or one at least very little considered, is likely to be the convention nominee.

An echo of this belief is the entry this week of Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland as a receptive candidate for the nomination. A dispatch from Baltimore says Maryland republicans were dumfounded when Senator France let it be known that he was to be considered a candidate and would open headquarters. It had never been suspected that the Maryland senator harbored presidential aspirations, and the generally accepted explanation of his sudden emerging is the belief that none of the candidates who have been active in the running can be returned a winner.

The big republican leaders are not so concerned as they were a little while ago about the necessity of heading off Gen. Wood. In fact, Senator Johnson looms a much more formidable menace to their peace of mind. A dispatch from Albany says that the defeat of Johnson is the only thing with which G. O. P. leaders in the Empire state now are concerned themselves; in fact, that they are prepared to be satisfied with any man the convention may select, so long as it is not the California senator. The "old guard" in New York is absolutely and unalterably opposed to Johnson because of his bolt with Roosevelt 8 years ago and is not willing even, according to the Albany correspondent, to accept him for second place on the ticket. It is estimated that if acceptance of Wood is necessary to the defeat of Johnson New York will be for Wood, but he too, was a friend of Roosevelt's and doesn't make any appeal to the regulars of the organization, it is represented, would prefer Lowden to any other candidate prominent in the race, but the game seems to be to cast two or three complimentary ballots for Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and then to throw the big delegation to the man who seems to have the best chance of defeating Johnson.

If that man is Gen. Wood, the pill will be swallowed, so it will be a dose not at all to the liking of Empire state republicans. A couple of weeks ago Elihu Root was put forward by New York republicans as a possible compromise candidate. This evidently was a "feeler" to see how the suggestion would take. It hasn't taken to any noticeable state. In fact, the name of Root has not even been mentioned in the political dispatches from any other state, and the idea apparently has been dropped in New York. Some time ago Senator Harding was looked upon with a good deal of favor in New York, but since the Ohio and Indiana primaries he is not being much considered. There has been some expectation in Ohio, as a matter of fact, that Harding would retire from the presidential contest and announce himself as a candidate for re-election to the Senate, but according to a dispatch from Columbus the senator has decided to stick to the end, tho it may involve loss of his senatorial toga.

There are indications from some states that Senator Knox is regarded with favor in case the Chicago convention should go afield for a candidate, but because of the uncertainty as to what the convention's pronouncement will be on the peace treaty and league of nations there is

RAILWAYS URGE U. S. CONTROL

Ask Prompt Action to Prevent Possible Breakdown

FOOD SHORTAGE DANGER

Lack of Cars and Outlaw Strike Main Causes

WASHINGTON.—Government control of the nation's transportation equipment, its movement and distribution was proposed to the inter-state commerce commission by the railroads themselves. Executives of 23 railroads informed the commission they were asking this step to prevent a possible breakdown in the distribution of food and other necessities due to a shortage of cars and other equipment and the outlaw switchmen's strike.

The railroads' formal petition asks the commission to assume its emergency power under the Esch-Cummings bill, which gives it power to supervise distribution of cars and motive equipment, curtail passenger service and issue priority orders.

"In the opinion of the railroad companies the situation is such as to warrant and require emergency action similar to that taken when this country entered the war," said Thomas DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railroad Executives. The decision to petition for government action was reached Friday at meetings in New York, Chicago and St. Louis.

Immediately after the executives filed their petition, the interstate commerce commission authorized the statement that the "commission is proceeding actively with steps toward the effective exercise of the powers and duties cast upon it in such emergencies, to afford such relief as may be possible in the present situation."

Under the plan proposed by the executives, the movement of all freight would be refused unless it fell into the class of essential commodities like food, fuel, news print, paper, etc.

All state and local regulations would be subordinate to orders of the commission.

Among the roads whose executives joined in the proposal were the Penn. Labor, Illinois Central, New York Central, Boston and Maine, St. Louis-San Francisco railway company, Chicago Great Western, New York, New Haven and Hartford and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western.

Shortage of equipment and labor and a tremendous increase in traffic are daily contributing, the petition stated, to the "growing public distress on account of delay in movement of necessary products of the country."

"Under these conditions, which promise to continue for some period of time, the public interest requires and the carriers are entitled to ask the exercise of emergency powers granted to the commission."

SEARCHING RIVER FOR BODY OF A WOMAN; MURDER SUSPECTED
CINCINNATI.—The finding of a fur collar and a beaded bag on the Ohio river bank at the foot of Mills street in this city early Saturday, has resulted in inquiries being made for Miss Lizzie Gallopis, 70, who made her home in Gallipolis, Ohio, with her cousin, a Mr. Henking.

Footprints in the mud near where the collar and bag were found, indicated that a struggle had taken place. The police are now searching the river in an effort to find the woman's body. Mr. Henking telephoned from Gallipolis that Miss Gallopis had left her summer cottage in Tampa, Fla., and was en route to her home in Gallipolis via Columbus.

No money or jewelry were found in the bag. It is believed that while the woman was waiting at the depot here to change trains for Columbus she was lured away on some pretext or other, taken to the river bank, robbed and thrown into the river.

PITTSBURG BEGINS EARLY WAR ON BASEBALL POOLS
PITTSBURGH.—The clean-up of the baseball pools and lotteries is starting early in Pittsburgh this year. Superintendent of Police Alderdice has issued an order instructing all his men to watch for and report cases of gambling pools. Raiding squads have also been sent out. The promoters of the pools have reaped a harvest of thousands of dollars in this district.

THREE BISHOPS ELECTED
DES MOINES, Ia.—Three bishops were elected by the Methodist general conference on the second day, Saturday, according to results announced Saturday night. The new bishops are: Dr. Fred B. Fisher, North Indiana conference; Dr. E. L. Waldorf, Cleveland and Dr. Charles Locke, Los Angeles.

Buying Camels Not Easy, Says Dealer

LONDON.—If you are thinking of buying a dromedary please consider the plight of John D. Hamlyn, the wild animal importer. Hamlyn, the wild animal importer, and promptly sent a man to Morocco, where dromedaries grow, with orders to purchase a drove. The Moors object to the animals being sent abroad. After trying adventures the agent called a few and called from Tangiers: "Purchased twelve, Cable money or I return home." The cash was cabled. A few days later this message arrived: "Exportation camels prohibited. What shall I do?" Hamlyn wired back: "Get special license from Sultan at court of Rabat," and then settled down to await the dromedaries' debut at the dock. But this message came: "No steamer for six or eight weeks. What shall I do?" "I don't know what the collector expected me to reply," said Hamlyn. "I didn't wire, 'Swim home with the camels,' but suppressed my emotions and cabled, 'Wait and see.' Once again I got ready to receive the camels, when another cable arrived, stating, 'Father dead, coming home via Spain.' Meanwhile my customers began calling for their dromedaries and I've sent another collector to the rescue."

HIGH COURT RULE HITS DIVORCES

Cases Made Subject to Review by Appeal Judges

COLUMBUS.—There will be fewer divorces in Ohio from now on as a result of the Ohio supreme court's decision making all decrees subject to review by the courts of appeal, according to lawyers and court officials.

It is also believed that the ruling of the supreme court will do away with the practice of divorces remarrying immediately upon being granted a decree of divorce.

There were 8,777 divorces in Ohio last year as against 8,708 the previous year. The great majority of the cases were uncontested. Wives were granted decrees in 6,081 cases and husbands in 2,696 cases.

Absence and neglect were the leading causes of divorce, 3,701 wives being given divorces on this ground and 1,975 men. There were fewer divorces on account of drunkenness than in former years. Three hundred and forty-four husbands were granted decrees because of adultery and 231 wives were divorced on this charge.

Since the constitution of 1881 jurisdiction in divorce cases has been limited by statute to the common pleas courts. The decision of the supreme court holding that divorce cases are subject to review is based upon the constitutional amendment of 1912 which knocked out the statute limiting jurisdiction to the lower court.

LEGION TO AVOID LABOR DISPUTES

National Commander D'Olier Outlines "Hands Off" Policy

INDIANAPOLIS.—A policy of "hands off" for the American Legion as an organization in all disputes and controversies between employers and employees, or between capital and labor, is outlined by Franklin D'Olier, national commander of the legion in a letter mailed to Thomas Goldsby, state adjutant of New Jersey.

The letter defines the attitude of the national headquarters of the legion with respect to instances in which members of the organization are reported to have taken sides in strikes and similar controversies, and deals with question which are to be taken up by the national executive committee at its meeting in Washington next Tuesday. It reads, in part: "It should be as an organization the American Legion should adhere closely to the policy of avoiding the taking of steps in any controversy between employers and employees, altho individual members, as individuals, have the right to do so. But as an organization, the legion should avoid such things."

UNIQUE LOVE TANGLE IN MARRIAGE OF BROTHER AND SISTER
MILWAUKEE, Wis.—A love tangle by which a man is uncle to his own children and a woman the mother of her brother's children, was revealed here Saturday, when Circuit Judge Halsey annulled the marriage of Edna Cooper to her brother, Richard Cooper. The strange marriage was performed in Waukegan, Ill., August 17, 1916, after the woman was the mother of her brother's two children, a boy and a girl. Cooper married under the name of Arthur Leister. That Cooper had married his sister was first brought to light in December 1918, when investigators of a state institution uncovered evidence, they said, proved the man and woman were of the same parents.

Edna and Richard were both wards of the state. Richard left but Edna stayed in Milwaukee. The authorities kept track of her. The investigation into the history of the man disclosed the relationship. Richard was sentenced to seven years in the state prison on charges of sustaining incestuous relations. He is now serving his term. Edna was placed on probation. Following Cooper's sentence his

CARRANZA STILL FLEEING SOUTH

Mexican Fugitive Appears to be Safely Ahead.

REBELS LOSE HEAVILY

British Cruiser at Vera Cruz; Consul Missing

EL PASO, Tex.—President Carranza Saturday night had safely eluded his rebel pursuers and with a small bodyguard was again in hiding in the mountain near Oaxaca, revolutionist headquarters here was advised Saturday night.

An unconfirmed report was received earlier that Carranza had been captured. Revolutionists doubted these advices in face of the dispatch announcing Carranza's escape.

Heavily armed insurgent forces were forging their way thru the mountains in pursuit of the fugitive president, latest advices said.

VERA CRUZ.—Venustiano Carranza, deposed president of Mexico, Saturday night apparently was fleeing southward from San Andres, Chalcicomula, in the state of Puebla toward the state of Oaxaca.

Rebels claimed to have defeated the Carranza forces in a bitter three day battle in the district north of Esperanza near the base of Mount Orizaba, about 120 miles southeast of Mexico City.

Carranza rear guards, however, were maintaining a bitter defense to cover their chief's retreat.

The revolutionists in dispatches here, claimed to have captured 900 in Friday's fighting. Losses were heavy on both sides the rebels admitted. The deposed president was forced to abandon his headquarters at San Andres.

Two revolutionary generals and several other officers were killed, the rebels admitted. The revolutionary forces suffered heavy losses. They encountered ambushed Carranza troops armed with machine guns. The revolutionists were proceeding up a defile in the mountains when the machine guns opened up. Scores were killed or wounded.

The Carranza forces also used two airplanes to advantage, the revolutionists added.

Before the attack early Friday morning messages from revolutionary leaders said, the rebels sent messages to Carranza urging him to surrender and avoid "shedding of blood." Carranza refused and the rebels' attack in force started.

Many dead and wounded were being taken to the town of Orizaba, southeast of the battle district, dispatches said.

The British light cruiser Cambrian has arrived in Vera Cruz, following requests from British subjects for protection. Other British vessels already were in the harbor. No further word had been received as to the fate of British Consul Body, reported to have been with Carranza. Revolutionists said they were making efforts to guarantee the safety of the British official.

ARREST 25,000 IN DRY ENFORCEMENT

Cleveland Leads Cities in Number of Violators Held.

NEW YORK.—Six thousand arrests have been made in 15 large cities of the country thru the Volstead act since January 17, 1920, according to figures gathered Saturday night by the United Press.

According to unofficial estimates a total of more than 25,000 arrests have been made in the United States since the federal prohibition amendment went into effect.

Cleveland led in the number of arrests with a total of 1,100. The federal district for southern New York, comprising the counties of Greer, New York and surrounding territory, came with 1,075 arrests and Chicago was third with 1,000. In Detroit, where there were 400 arrests with 79 convictions so far, fines totalled more than $32,500.

The United States district attorney for the central district of Illinois reported 90 prohibition violators in that district foreigners and in Denver, Colo., it was said several women had figured in arrests on charges of violation of the amendment. In Atlanta, the police believe a big percentage of the arrests there were of professional bootleggers.

CHICAGO.—Thousands of gallons of liquor, valued at $600,000 and seized by the government in enforcing prohibition have been stolen from the government warehouse, Internal Revenue Collector H. W. Mager announced Saturday. The disappearance of the liquor jeopardizes more than a hundred cases against alleged "bootleggers," it was said.

SINN FEIN LEADER IS KILLED AT LIMERICK
LIMERICK, Ireland.—Joseph Dalton, prominent member of the Sinn Fein, was shot and killed Saturday night. Nine masked men, heavily armed, fired two volleys at him. No arrests have been made.

PEACE RESOLUTION PASSED BY SENATE

UNION STATION IS CONSIDERED

Chamber of Commerce Working on Plans, Lincoln Says.

WILL CALL RAILROAD MEN

Improvement Part Of City Plan Now in Formation.

At an early date the Lima chamber of commerce will begin negotiations on one of the largest civic projects that has come to the attention of city boosters in recent years.

It is the hope of Irving B. Lincoln, secretary of the local chamber of commerce, that within the next few weeks he will be able to call to Lima officials of the five railroads leading out of this city to get their opinion on the possibility of constructing a model union passenger station from where all out going and incoming trains would stop.

The magnitude of the plan can only be realized by the small number of cities now boasting of such a model transportation building where passengers can be easily handled and where they are less likely to become confused.

"The union station project is an outgrowth of our city plan program which for some time has been under construction," Lincoln said. "We expect at an early date to start actively in carrying out the plans and it will be but a short time until I will call a meeting of railroad officials to discuss the union station possibilities."

As far as is known nothing definite has been planned along this line. The outcome is expected to hinge on the results of the conference with officials of the Pennsylvania, B. & O., Erie, D. T. & L., and Lake Erie & Western.

At the calling of the conference is expected the local chamber will have some definite plans to be laid before the railroad men, including what might be considered as ideal location for the building.

Every twenty-four hours 34 passenger trains go thru Lima enroute to points north, east, south and west. To house this large number of trains and the amount of travelers that pass thru this city daily on the five railroads, the station would have to be one of extraordinary size for the city of this size.

It is not expected that the plan will at once be accepted by the railroad heads.

First they must be thoroughly imbued by the backing to be received, and what financial good they can derive from the construction of such a place where passengers may get off or on their respective trains at one depot.

Then it must be necessary for the officials of the roads to reach an agreement as to the equal distribution of the cost in regard to the benefits of each railroad company included in the combined depot.

This, according to Mr. Lincoln, will take time. But it will only be a short time until the matter is laid squarely before the railroad men for their consideration.

COAL OPERATORS AND MINERS AWAIT COURT RULE ON INDICTMENT

INDIANAPOLIS.—Coal operators and miners indicted by a federal grand jury here in connection with the nation-wide coal strike, pondered Saturday night over the expected decision of Judge A. B. Anderson.

Charles E. Hughes, former justice of the supreme court, has asked Anderson to rule on the legality of the Lever law. Hughes is arguing for the miners, declaring the act unconstitutional and the indictments faulty. Judge Anderson's decision is expected Thursday. Declaring the Lever law unconstitutional will throw the entire labor situation "up in the air," federal authorities said Saturday night.

SCHOOL GIRL EXCELS AS LIGHTNING CALCULATOR
KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Evelyn Kaplan, thirteen years old, seventh grade schoolgirl, who last month established an international record as a rapid calculator, again successfully defended her laurels against a special demonstrator for an adding machine at the Garfield school.

Miss Kaplan solved six standard problems in addition in forty-seven seconds.

Waukegan, Wis.—They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper, who came to this state in a prairie schooner from Indiana in the early nineties. June 26, 1901, both were committed to the state orphan school. In 1911, Richard ran away, going to Omaha, Neb. Edna was adopted by a Milwaukee family. Authorities say Edna joined Richard in Omaha and later returned to Milwaukee. In January, 1915, a baby was born, authorities say. The second child was born August 1, 1916. Thirteen days later Edna and Richard were married, according to authorities.

WILSON CHOOSES PRINCETON MAN FOR I. C. C. JOB

Henry James Ford

Henry James Ford has been nominated by President Wilson as a member of the interstate commerce commission. He is the second Princeton man to be given such a position in the administration. He is a Baltimore man and has served as editorial writer on Eastern papers and as banking and insurance commissioner of New Jersey.

PACKERS' PROFITS QUADRUPLED

Stock Dividends Boost Capital Trade Commission Funds.

WASHINGTON.—Profits of the "big five" meat packers during the war years 1915 to 1919 "doubled, tripled and quadrupled," the federal trade commission announced Saturday night.

The commission made public part of its reports on packers' profits covering operations of Armour, Swift, Morris, Wilson and Cudahy. These corporations, the report said, "showed in round numbers at the beginning of the fiscal year 1919 total combined assets of $1,500,000,000; total combined net worth (capital stock and surplus) of $535,000,000; had sold during the fiscal year 1919 $3,200,000,000 of goods, and that the several companies have grown to these proportions principally from profits retained in the business after deducting dividends paid to stockholders."

"These profits retained in the business have been generally capitalized by the issuing of stock as dividends so that of the present capital stock outstanding of the great companies, only about 40 per cent represents direct cash contributions on the part of stockholders."

Independent packers as a rule made a higher rate of return in each comparable year (1914 to 1917) than did the great packers as a group, the report said. They are not entirely comparable however, according to the commission's findings, because the great packers operate branches, car routes and non-livestock activities, while the small firms are concerned almost exclusively with meat packing.

MOSCOW SILENCE IS BROKEN BY WIRELESS

LONDON.—British wireless stations were in communication with Moscow Saturday night after an interruption lasting since May 9. No message as received from the Soviet capital explaining the silence of the wireless station, which has been variously attributed to rising by the Russian people and the Russian governments desire to cloak alleged negotiations with German militarists.

GOES THRU WITH 43 TO 38 VOTE

Certain to Meet Fate in Presidential Veto

PARTY LINES ARE HELD

Republicans Will Now Seek Repeal of War Laws

WASHINGTON.—In the face of an almost certain presidential veto, the senate Saturday approved the peace making plan proposed by Republican leaders as a temporary substitute for a formal treaty, by a vote of 43 to 38, it adopted the resolution proposed by Senator Knox, Pennsylvania, repealing war declarations on Austria and Germany and declaring a state of peace exists.

Within a few days a composite measure made up from the Knox resolution and the Porter resolution that passed the house in April is expected to be framed, passed by both senate and house, and sent to President Wilson who will veto it, according to repeated statements of leading Democrats. The number of votes mustered by backers of the resolution in the senate Saturday would not be sufficient to pass it over a veto.

Saturday's vote showed Senate Democrats supporting Wilson's stand against the resolution. Even the Democrats who voted for Lodge reservations, opposed the Knox resolution for the most part on the ground that it is unconstitutional for the most part on the ground that it is unconstitutional and that peace cannot be made by means of legislative enactment.

In the form adopted by the senate the resolution terminates the state of war, reserving to the United States all rights it would have had under the Versailles treaty, and retaining possession of all German property under the resolution is to be held until Germany has made satisfactory arrangements by treaty for full satisfaction of all claims of American citizens against German nationals.

The senate struck out a provision requesting the president to negotiate separate peace with Germany. It added an amendment proposed by Senator Brandegee, Connecticut, strengthening the clause protecting American claims for war damages. This amendment, Brandegee said, was intended to cover the claim of an American concern with a plant in Austria which was destroyed during hostilities.

In closing the debate on the resolution, Senators Hitchcock and Underwood charged that the Republicans were passing the resolution for political purposes purely, and in an attempt to bind the country as to where the responsibility really lies for delaying the restoration of peace and the repeal of war legislation.

Because of the practical certainty that President Wilson will veto the resolution, senators on both sides intended now to seek repeal of all war laws.

CHARGE BOY STOLE $35,000 CHECKS

All Cancelled But Marks Are Removed by Acids

TOLEDO.—Paul Huberich, 17, was arrested here Saturday charged with stealing $35,000 in cancelled checks from the Ohio Savings Bank on April 15. The boy, according to police, packed checks calling for $2,000 on Toledo and Bowling Green banks, using the mail to make deposit. He is a clerk in an engraving concern. The checks had been paid and were to be sent to the Toledo clearing house. All were drawn on the Home Savings Bank of Toledo.

Huberich confessed, detectives said. They say that they found most of the checks in the boy's room. When the checks were presented for payment the "paid" stamps had been removed with acid and the amounts changed. Some of the amounts were raised, and some for large checks, lowered. Huberich will be turned over to federal authorities.

NEGRO UNDER MURDER CHARGE. SAVED FROM WOULD-BE LYNCHERS
YOUNGSTOWN.—William Smith, a negro, shot twice before his capture by the police on a charge of murder, was rushed thru a crowd of would-be lynchers at East Youngstown and brought here. A crowd which gathered at the county jail here was dispersed. Smith is charged with killing John Constantine, village police, and wounding Morris Hymon, a cooper at East Youngstown, last Sunday night. A reward of $500 had been offered for his capture, which occurred in the woods near East Youngstown.

TO LIFT DEBT ON RESCUE HOME

Two Day Campaign to Begin
Monday to Raise $28,000

A WORTHY INSTITUTION

Flourished for 15 Years Under Direction of Rev. Welty

A campaign to secure funds to clear all indebtedness from the Lima Rescue Home, Central-ave and Wayne-st., will be inaugurated Monday and will continue until Tuesday night. The amount of $28,000 must be raised to lift the present debt which hangs over the home.

Rev. A. D. Welty is superintendent. From a mere hotel, in which he held meetings here 15 years ago, the institution has grown and prospered until today business men recognize it as one of the deserving charities of the city.

Mr. Welty, a brother of Congressman Benjamin F. Welty, came to Lima practically unknown. He took a new home in that was then known as Lima's vice district. He worked on the theory it is hardly possible for a man to accept and receive the teachings of Jesus Christ when he is in an unclean environment. So he tried to change that. Then he taught them the uplifting life.

During years were returned to the hearts of loving mothers. The good work prospered. It needed and grew. It was used to beg for assistance and to get on clothing and articles such as magazines and paper. The institution has now reached a point where there are many persons who do not protest religion, but realize the greatness of the institution and are ready to contribute.

There are several hundred and all men and women. Some men who have been years at the home, others of the cleanliness and convenience and pay regularly the price that rooms would cost elsewhere. All this money is turned into the fund to remove the indebtedness.

The present large building cost about $20,000. The campaign for funds to remove the indebtedness will be in the hands of John M. Morgan of the Morgan and Wood company, chairman, C. A. Graham, treasurer, Attorney L. E. Ludwig, Ralph Adolph, Secretary, Rev. Kirk B. Gifford, H. L. Mays and R. T. Grogg.

"We have never asked in vain for anything to benefit the home," Mr. Welty said Saturday. "I am sure the committee will be able to secure the necessary funds. Every dollar will be used to good advantage and the donors will have the satisfaction of their devotion," he said.

Mr. Welty and his family reside at the home and care for its several departments.

Rooms in Business College Building Are Rejuvenated

The rejuvenated Lima chapter of commerce, as the force of its activities for the civic betterment of the community gain momentum, is beginning to show the results of activity even in the doors of its offices in the Business College building.

The formerly drab and unattractive rooms, under the direction of the new secretary, Irving H. Lincoln, have been entirely redecorated, and the first of an entirely new outfit of office furniture arrived Saturday. Two new desks and additional tables and chairs will be on hand Monday, Lincoln stated. In addition to this there will be new rugs to add to the attractiveness of the offices, according to the secretary.

SOCIAL SURVEY IN LIMA PLANNED

Specialist Will Be Brought Here,
Lincoln Announces

"Plans are well under way for a social survey of Lima, to be held in September," announced a Secretary of the Lincoln, of the Lima chamber of commerce Saturday on his return from Columbus where he conferred with Fred C. Crofton, chairman of the council of social agencies, director of the Ohio Institute for public efficiency and assistant manager of the National Red Cross.

"This survey," said Lincoln, "will cover all organizations, agencies and institutions which touch in any way with the social human problem. Health and sanitation, housing conditions, overcrowding, water supply, fire hazard, sewage disposal, charity and relief, public health, nursing, mothers' pensions, recreation, child welfare, hygiene, juvenile delinquency and industrial education are among the things which will be thoroughly investigated by means of the proposed survey."

It is planned to bring 30 specialists from state agencies to Lima, according to Lincoln, to cooperate with the local authorities in making the survey as complete as possible. The time required will be from six weeks to two months.

The entire object of the survey, said Lincoln, "is to ascertain the social needs and requirements of Lima and recommend methods to meet these needs."

COOPERATIVE ELEVATORS POPULAR, AGENT DECLARES

Co-operative elevators are springing up over Allen-co like mushrooms after a spring rain, according to L. S. VanNatta, county farm agent.

"The co-operative farmers' elevator movement is sweeping this country," Van Natta said Saturday. "With the exception of three towns, Scott's Crossing, Harrod and Kemp, every elevator is now owned and operated by a company of farmers," he stated.

Towns at which these elevators are located are Spencerville, Delphos, Gomer West, Cairo, Beaverdam, Elida, Home, Blount and Lafayette.

Farmers operate on a big scale. They not only purchase all articles needed by them, such as machinery and so forth, but are preparing to market their articles produced.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR FOR Y. M. C. A.

Membership Greatly Increased,
Report of Secretary Shows.

SERVICE WORK COMMENDED

Plans for Future Are Laid By Board of Directors.

The close of the first year's work of the Lima Y. M. C. A. in the new building shows a thoroughly successful year of accomplishment in the various activities carried on by the "Y," according to the report of the board of directors following their annual meeting at the close of the year.

The total membership on May 1, according to the report was 1,307, including both men and boys on the rolls. The records show a total of 2,319 men and boys to have been members at various times during the year, there being a great number of short term memberships taken out by transients who did not remain in the city for an entire year. The goal set by the board of directors for the year 1920 is 2,000 members.

EX-SERVICE MEN JOIN.

The appreciation of the services of the Y. M. C. A. by former service men, according to the report is shown by the fact that 176 ex-service men came to the building voluntarily and made application for the three months membership which was granted free up to January, 1920. Many of these were helped to secure work, given vocational guidance and helped in regard to their government insurance, allotments and many who were in need were given temporary assistance.

The religious and educational activities of the association for the year show the following results to have been accomplished: 29 religious meetings held for men with total attendance of 3,717; 115 men referred to churches of city; 561 shop meetings held with total attendance of 47,669; 23 addresses delivered by Dr. Winfield Scott Hall, eugenics authority, to audiences ranging from 50 to 590; 22 enrolled in personal efficiency class; 23 in addressing and 29 in English for foreigners.

In the thrift week campaign, conducted in connection with the national Y. M. C. A. thrift week 51 meetings were held in shops, libraries, school buildings and churches, reaching over 18,000 people. Practically every person in the city is thought to have been reached through co-operation of the newspapers, merchants, insurance men, bankers, manufacturers and others who co-operated in the campaign.

SERVICE COMMENDED.

One of the services most highly commended by the directors was that of the industrial secretary added to the personnel of the "Y" last August. S. C. Blatch who was selected to carry on this work has devoted all his time to work among the men of the Lima industries, resulting in a higher morale among the men and a better understanding between employer and employee.

Industrial baseball, basketball and bowling leagues have been organized among the shop men and special social nights were arranged at the Y. M. C. A. for the entertainment of men of the different factories and their families.

Particularly pleasing results are reported from the work of the physical department. Five regular classes were conducted throughout the season from September 15 to May 1, with 391 class sessions and a total of 530 men and boys in attendance. There were 226 members taught to swim 115 physical examinations were given and six gymnasium exhibitions were given, the last of which was a three day circus said to be the best thing of its kind ever given in Lima.

The bowling alleys and billiard room have been a center of interest throughout the year, about 3,000 games per month being averaged on the bowling alleys.

ROOMS ARE FILLED.

Since last July, according to the report, the 92 dormitory rooms for men to young men have been continuously filled, with a waiting list the greater part of the time. Four hundred and fifty-one different young men have been accommodated during the year each remaining an average of nine weeks.

The report of the boys' department shows the following results in addition to the total of 520 boys who became members of the association during the year. Total attendance of 4,042 shown at religious meetings held for boys, 102 of whom are shown to have made decisions to follow a Christian life. 15 definitely joined church, and 100 to have become contributors to the association's work in foreign fields. Swimming, hiking, camping and story telling hours, in addition to 27 banquets during the year have been features, which helped to create interest in the boys' department.

The Y. M. C. A. cafeteria is reported to be bringing to the association building an average of from 500 to 700 people daily.

PLANS FOR FUTURE.

Under the heading "Looking Ahead," the directors have the following to say about the plans of the Y. M. C. A. for the future: "With experience of the past year as a background the management confidently looks toward a year of great growth and expansion in every department of the association endeavor."

"The results of the past year have been achieved thru the very hearty co-operation of large numbers of men on the various departmental committees (thru the co-operation of the press, which gave much publicity to the work and to the public spirited men of our city who assisted financially in bringing the year of work to a close with all bills paid.)"

"The record of the year is now history and the management of the association confidently expects the continued co-operation on the part of the Lima citizens which will enable the Young Men's Christian Association to be a constantly increasing force for good in the lives of the young men and boys of our city.

MICHAEL MURPHY DIES SUDDENLY AT HIS HOME

Michael Murphy, 51, of 204 W. O'Connor-ave, died suddenly at his home Saturday afternoon at 3:15 from heart trouble.

For the past ten years he was in the employ of the B. & O. shops. Besides his wife he is survived by the following children: Margaret, Patrick H. and James, all living at home. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

COX STRONG WITH ALL CLASSES

no crystallization of sentiment for the Pennsylvania senator. He has stood with Senator Johnson in opposition to the league of with or without reservations. If the convention declares for the league with the Lodge reservations Senator Knox would hardly be a presidential possibility, tho as a general thing he would be acceptable to the conservative or old guard element in the party.

In fact, it no longer can be doubted that President Wilson has been wholly successful in his determination to inject the league into the campaign as a paramount issue. The fortunes of presidential candidates are going to be affected by it in both conventions.

In the democratic pre-convention campaign, former Secretary McAdoo and Gov. Cox of Ohio appear to be dividing honors as presidential favorites in all parts of the country. A number of states report Attorney General Palmer as having lost ground during the last couple of weeks, due to opposition of the "wets" and the lack of any enthusiasm for him in the ranks of organized labor. Gov. Cox seems to be popular wherever the "wets" are strong, and also to have very substantial following in the dry states. He is not unacceptable to organized labor and has taken no pronounced stand for or against the league of nations.

McAdoo is especially strong with the laboring element, and is assumed to be a supporter of the administration's demand for the league of nations without reservations, tho the former Secretary himself has burned no peace treaty bridges behind him. He has been pronounced by the Anti-Saloon League to be an acceptable "dry" candidate, but the "wets" have not shown that they regard him with special hostility.

A dispatch from Tacoma says administration democrats in Washington are inclined to swing to Secretary of State Colby, on the assumption that he is favored by President Wilson, but nothing has been heard of a Colby boom elsewhere. Democrats the country over appear to be living in daily expectation that there will come from the White House a cue as to which direction the band wagon is heading.

RAISING OF RABBITS IS BEING ENCOURAGED

The Lima Rabbit and Cavy Association of Lima is doing its share in bringing down the high cost of living. Many new members have been added this week in its membership campaign.

The purpose of the organization is to increase the supply of rabbit food and furs in the city. A result of their attention to the breeding of rabbits was shown Saturday when R. Kalfiz, a local rabbit and cavy enthusiast, was awarded the first prize in the Cincinnati show of rabbits and cavy from all parts of the state. Kalfiz had the best light-colored Flemish giant, Big Bill, in the meet.

The Association will hold its next regular meeting Monday evening, at 7:30 in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

DRUNKENNESS CHARGED
A half pint bottle of "raisin jack," $135 in cash and a ticket to Alliance was found on a man giving the name of Joe Semon, 32, laborer, Columbus-ave, arrested by Patrolman Edwards at 10 o'clock Saturday evening on a charge of drunkenness.

INSURANCE MAN DIES

LEAGUE AN ISSUE IN CAMPAIGN

All Doubts on That Score Appear To Be Removed

J. N. Goeke Predicts Democratic Success With Cox

(Special to The Sunday News and Times-Democrat)

With the most important presidential primaries out of the way and the presidential contests in both parties have narrowed down to a gruelling battle for the support of structured delegates, who will hold the balance of power in both conventions, it was but natural that issues instead of personalities should hold the spotlight in the big political whirl that is now in the final stages of its pre-convention status.

The outstanding feature of the week's developments was President Wilson's telegram to Oregon Democrats insisting upon ratification of the peace treaty and league of nations without reservations and its reception by the political leaders of both parties for whom it doubtless was intended. If there had remained any doubt that the treaty would become the dominating issue at both conventions, the President's action removed that doubt. It is no longer a question whether it will be the issue but whose issue it will be.

Ohio Democracy is not wholly heartily behind the president in his treaty stand, if views of its leaders are indicative of sentiment. Senator Atlee Pomerene, while he preferred ratification of the treaty without reservation, voted for the Lodge reservations when he saw there was no hope to obtain reserved ratification. He is a delegate-at-large to the San Francisco convention, and a likely choice as Ohio's representative on the committee on resolutions, which will have a large part in drafting the party platform. The national committeeman from Ohio, Edward H. Moore, of Youngstown, in a signed statement this week, declared his opposition to a plank endorsing unreservedly the peace treaty as it came from Versailles. Whether this will make any difference in the fall campaign remains to be seen.

Republican members of Congress from Ohio are not at all pleased over the turn affairs have taken in their state during the week. The persistent effort to "smoke out" Senator Harding regarding his senatorial intentions, attributed to the Ohio supporters of Major-General Leonard Wood, strikes them as portending a blow which will injure to the benefit of the Democrats and thus affect their chances for reelection. They were perturbed because of the early fight between Senator Harding and General Wood in the recent primary, and the latest development causes them increased anxiety.

Meanwhile, Senator Harding, badly battered but still in the ring, refuses to fall for the plot with an answer regarding the senatorship, but announces that he is still a presidential entry.

In contrast to Senator Harding's experience in his home state is that of Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, who is rapidly forging to the front as one of the main contenders in the Democratic presidential sweepstakes. Every Ohio Democrat who comes to Washington is a Cox booster and does not hesitate to say so.

All of them say the party is united behind his candidacy, and that he will be nominated. There was much gratification among Cox adherents at the nation's capital because of the espousal of the Cox candidacy by Joseph Dunham, export of the federal trade commission, who gave out an interview this week referring to Governor Cox as the best selection that could be made. There is strong sentiment for Governor Cox among Democratic members of Congress, while newspaper comment throughout the entire east is favorable to his candidacy.

Among the Ohio visitors to Washington this week was former Representative John Henry Goeke of the fourth Ohio district, who is a delegate to the San Francisco convention from the Lima district. Mr. Goeke was enthusiastic over the chances of Governor Cox for the nomination, and predicted that the Democratic party would be victorious in the national elections this fall.

Representative Ben F. Welty, of Lima, is a sure entry for a third term, and has been prosecuting a vigorous pre-primary campaign throughout the district from his office in the House building. He anticipates opposition in the primary, but has strong hopes of breaking down the traditional third term rule in his district. He expects to make his fight largely on his large canal project. He has devoted himself assiduously to this project during his four years in congress and has encountered numerous obstacles, many of which he has surmounted. Mr. Welty was honored this week by being named as one of the vice-presidents of the Democratic congressional committee, which organized for the coming campaign.

Representative Welty appeared this week before the judiciary committee of the House in support of his bill making appointments of federal judges for a term of years instead of for life. He has hopes of having this change inserted into the Democratic national platform at San Francisco.

POLITICIANS ARE WATCHING PA.

Anxious as to Who Keystone States Will Favor.

VOTE MAY BE SPLIT

Vermont Will Also Select Delegates Next Tuesday.

NEW YORK. — Pennsylvania, with the second largest delegation in the big enigma among the states still to choose their representative to the Chicago convention.

Politicians are employing every means to determine how that state's 76 delegates will be distributed after the primary Tuesday, whether they will be for Governor William Sproul, Senator Philander C. Knox or Major General Wood, or distributed among the three.

There is a general belief that Sproul will get practically a unanimous vote from his home state on the first ballot. But it is what Pennsylvania will do on the second and succeeding ballots that is bothering the politicians.

Unlike the situation in most states where he has sought support Wood will be opposing the Republican organization, as he will have the entire strength of Boies Penrose, state leader and dominant factor among the party conservatives, against him. Altho the Wood people are claiming an alliance with Sproul, political observers are inclined to believe the government — providing his own boom dies from mal-nutrition — will be put in the position of having to throw what personal strength he may possess to Knox, a "favorite son." Knox, of course, is Penrose's personal candidate.

The only candidate entered in the Republican preferential primary in Pennsylvania is Edward Randolph Wood, a Hardy perennial of Philadelphia, no relation to the general. The practical politicians do not figure him in the running.

Vermont also will select eight delegates in a primary Tuesday but these are conceded to Wood.

On Friday, Senator Johnson, Governor Frank O. Lowden and Wood will battle for Oregon's ten delegates in the last of the Republican free-for-all primaries. Political observers rank them thus: Johnson, Wood, Lowden.

The Republican pre-convention campaign winds up May 25, with a primary in West Virginia and a state convention in Texas. Wood and Senator Howard Sutherland, "native son" are the contestants for West Virginia's delegation of 16.

The DEISEL CO. Lima's Big Store

We Can't Promise Any Definite Duration for

THIS BELOW-COST SELLING

Just as Soon as Our Surplus Stocks Are Sold The Sale Will Stop: It's No Fun to Sell at A Loss

We told you why we are offering these goods at prices that not only are far below today's market, but which in many instances are less than actual cost to us. Briefly repeated: we planned for a bigger business than we got. Expected to double our 1919 record just as in 1919 we doubled 1918.

We didn't figure on 35 days of continuous rain and cold. Of course business had to suffer. And out of our bad luck you reap a splendid harvest, if you seize the opportunity and come NOW! We tell you fairly we will stop this sale the minute our overstocks are moved. So don't blame us if your neighbor gets the cream and you go without.

PRICES CUT 10% 20% 25% 40% ON OUR SURPLUS STOCKS

"I GIVE YOU CREDIT"

Said a cheery woman customer in our Suit Section early Saturday morning—"I certainly give The Deisel Co. credit for advertising the TRUTH about this sale. It was so DIFFERENT to read your frank admission that you were having the sale to dispose of surplus merchandise instead of saying as so many stores are doing that you were simply trying to HELP the public."

WE believe that the best way we can SERVE the public is to deal fairly and to tell the exact truth about our store activities and about our goods both in our advertising and in the store as well.

Naturally we are in business primarily to operate a successful institution and make money. Customarily we mark our merchandise 4% above our net cost of doing business.

In this sale, however, we are losing money. Not because we WANT TO, or expect to CONTINUE TO, but because we have accumulated surplus stocks during the long continued rainy weather and it's good business to dispose of these excess goods now.

If we could SUCCESSFULLY carry this merchandise over until Fall WE WOULD DO SO and then get our usual profit.

But that is not good business. We want to show you ENTIRELY NEW THINGS when Fall rolls around.

It is that kind of policy that has nearly tripled this business in four years.

20 BORN; 33 DIE DURING APRIL

County Health Commissioner Issues Report for Month

The death rate for Allen county in April exceeded the birth rate, according to Alice Fogue, clerk in the office of Dr. J. J. Suttler, county health commissioner.

During the past month there were 20 babies born and 33 deaths. Of that number, two deaths were at the District Tuberculosis hospital and six at the State hospital. Other deaths in the districts outside of the institutions numbered 25.

All vital statistics for the county pass thru the office of the district health commissioner.

Announcement is made that the four cases of scarlet fever at Lafayette are well in hand and no new cases reported. The number of cases of measles among children over the county is also decreasing, according to Miss Fogue.

SUIT IS DISMISSED

Arthur Ward dismissed in common pleas court Saturday the suit for $5,000 against his wife's step-father, Frank Greek, alias Frank Craig, in which he charged Greek with coaxing his wife away from him.

Give The Public Value In Roads!

Reading the articles in the technical papers and the daily press we will again emphasize the importance of conserving everything of value in our present streets and roads with a view of giving the taxpayers and the public, real value for the public monies to be expended in the programs under consideration in all sections of the country—but upon which program no progress is being made.

In some states recent bids have been as much as $60,000 and $90,000 per mile for a 18-foot road—on the only type of road specified by the State or County Commission—other states are held up due to their bonds being at 5% and must be sold at par.

Many mistakes are being made in not adopting types of roadways involving the use of materials that can be used most economically in the location of the proposed project.

It is wrong to consider the use of a material where rail transportation and hauling is out of proportion to the cost of material. It is folly to think of using a standard specification for various states, and even in the same state requirements may and will vary at different localities. It is time that the public calls a halt on these state officials who thus calmly assume that there is but One Standard Type of Road Construction and that if conditions are not opportune for that type of road, work will be suspended.

Too much stress is often laid on the requirements for a rigid base, where under certain conditions a flexible base could be had at lesser cost and where local material would result in economy and an equally as good type of construction.

The public should demand that the officials give careful consideration to every type after due investigation of:

1. Underlying soil conditions.
 2. Drainage.
 3. Local material available.
 4. Present value of the road as a part of the new construction.
 5. Prospective traffic.
- So that every dollar available may be used to construct the most miles with due regard to:

1. Initial cost.
 2. Durability.
 3. Deterioration (maintenance).
 4. Relation to maintenance and operating cost of motor vehicles.
- Highway engineering, but in too many instances the layout of blue prints presents a beautiful alignment with carefully plotted railroad curves with all their required functions and with properly balanced cuts and fills to construct which will entirely destroy the stable and well settled roadbed.

The suspension of new work on account of the excessive cost of one certain type of construction and the tedious altered refinement of preliminary and location surveys will not solve our problems nor give the much desired and demanded miles of road, hard surfaced roads. Even with today's excessive costs of labor and material, I estimate the following as typical bidding prices on improved asphalt construction laid on a road which in the past has been built of material of real supporting value based on a mile of 18-foot road:

1-inch Asphalt Surface—Maximum, per sq. yd. $2.30
Minimum, per sq. yd. $2.15
Minimum, per sq. yd. $1.90
Minimum, per mile $20,000
Preparing Macadam or Gravel Base—Maximum, per sq. yd. $1.50
Maximum, per mile $10,500
Minimum, per sq. yd. $1.30
Minimum, per mile $10,500
Total minimum, per mile $23,332
Total maximum, per sq. yd. $40,028
Average per mile, $30,300.00

Let us have no progress in our road improvement with the daily reports of broken springs, unnecessary blow-outs and delayed traffic to say nothing of the continuous disagreeable features.

Candidates Are Plentiful and all of 'em Are Winnin'

By J. W. FISHER.

Candidates for the honor of representing the fourth congressional district at the national convention find that "candidating" for a job that pays no salary and possesses no promise of reward is rather an expensive proposition, after all. It is difficult to get men to see the wisdom of putting up good money to get a political job of any kind—sometimes even when a salary or emolument in some form or another is in prospect. But it is even more difficult when the position sought is not a salary and for the district benefit of another, as in the case of spending money to be elected a delegate to a convention for the purpose of helping to elect somebody else into a position of honor with a good salary attached thereto. It is an amazing thing that candidates for a job would spend good money to get it, but they do.

The fact is, however, that candidates for a job that pays no salary and possesses no promise of reward is rather an expensive proposition, after all. It is difficult to get men to see the wisdom of putting up good money to get a political job of any kind—sometimes even when a salary or emolument in some form or another is in prospect. But it is even more difficult when the position sought is not a salary and for the district benefit of another, as in the case of spending money to be elected a delegate to a convention for the purpose of helping to elect somebody else into a position of honor with a good salary attached thereto. It is an amazing thing that candidates for a job would spend good money to get it, but they do.

One of the recent visitors to Lima, in the person of Hon. Ralph C. Ford, visited for a few days at least, interested among local politicians as to Ralph's possible candidacy for a congressional seat. The Hon. Ralph addressed the Republicans. After dinner speeches at his speciality. He fairly doted on the just like the more illustrious Congressman. He was of whom the Hon. Ralph is a prototype. In season and out of season Ralph can and does talk politics, but there are times when he forgets that there is such an animal. His visit to Lima was just such an occasion. He's a fine appearing chap, an interesting and convincing speaker and makes a good impression with those he meets. But when it comes to politics, Ralph just naturally forgets that there is anything to it save from a Republican standpoint. Barring his politics, Ralph's friends of the opposite political faith admit that he's a mighty fine fellow.

Over St. Mary's way it's getting to be a question as to just where anybody stands on the question of day-high saying. The situation is a "balled up" and while it cannot be changed or even hinted that it's a political issue of any sort, yet the fact remains that the focusing of the change from central to eastern time effective last Sunday, and the school board of the Auglatzco city fell in line with it. Then the storm broke. John L. Sullivan, in the columns of the paper over which he presides, the Evening Leader, has been expending considerable energy against the change, which found its culmination in action taken Friday, when John L., with a belligerence of a certain other John L. Sullivan of fistic fame in bygone days, made written demand on City Solicitor David Armstrong that he (Armstrong) go into a court of competent jurisdiction and secure a mandate requiring that the order of the city council and the school board be rescinded. In the meantime, the general public over at St. Mary's is on tempt to remain in the position of "innocent bystander."

After nearly four months of quietude as chief executive of Delphos, with only an occasional breaker of the law facing him, B. L. Jauman, the mayor of the city to the west was, during the past few weeks, yanked out of his complacency and forced to realize that there was something more to the job of being mayor than merely looking pleasant and affixing his signature to an occasional routine order. For he it known that Delphos awakened, for a time at least, from its state of lethargy and something like "them good old days" returned, to harass the serenely of the chief conservator of the peace and cause him to lose sleep in figuring out just what was the best thing to do under the circumstances. Ben, as he is familiarly known in his home city, rightly decided that there is but one thing to do in case of wrong-doing, and that is to vigorously apply the remedy provided for by the statutes. Those who voted for Ben L. Jauman as a candidate on the Democratic ticket, fondly believing that he would countenance infractions of the law, found that they have another guess coming. Ben is an undertaker, in addition to holding down the job of mayor and he doesn't let one of his jobs interfere with the other. He's a "live" one even in the undertaking business.

Here is the latest political situation as depicted out by the office boy Republican Lodge opened in regular form. Pentecost and Knox, Wood Coulidge shouted "Ladies and Gentlemen," and Warren C. Harding, the Butler had hit the hay. Johnson appeared. Donahy grabbed the Galt (threatened to Hoover, over the fence or chair) until she took on the Hughes of 1916.

ORATORIO TO BE SUNG TODAY

Chorus of 28 Voices Will Present "Stabat Mater"

Music lovers of Lima will be treated to a treat at the First Congregational church today, when at 1 o'clock will be given the rendition of "Stabat Mater." A chorus of 28 voices, under the direction of Prof. Mark Evans, will sing the oratorio. The public is invited. Soloists are Mrs. Anna Roberts, Davies, Gomer soprano, Mrs. Mary Watkins-Thompson, contralto, James Grubb, tenor and Fred Calvert, baritone. Prof. Chiron A. Richmond will be at the organ and Mrs. James Grubb at the piano.

The program is as follows: Introduction. Chorus and quartet. Air, tenor, Lord Vouchsafe Thy Loving Kindness. Duet, soprano and alto, "Quies est Homo" (Power Eternal). Air, baritone, "Thought the Dark-ness."

Receptive (baritone) and chorus, "Thou Has Tired Our Hearts." Quartet, "I Have Longed for Thy Salvation."

Air, contralto, "I will Sing of Thy Great Mercy." Air, soprano, "Inflammatus" (When Thou Comest) with chorus.

FEW DELEGATES TO WATCH

Donahy Makes Bull's-Eye—Other News From Ohio.

(BY MARCUS)

COLUMBUS.—One must admire courage and fortitude wherever found. So, too, one must give credit to those in whom hope springs eternal. And again, one must credit those who can carry on in face of what seems to be certain defeat and complete disaster. Hence, it may be said the well wishes of those who are devoted to last ditch stands will go out to Hon. Howard Mannington who has opened headquarters for Hon. Warren C. Harding in the Congress Hotel in Chicago. Howard, bless his fat soul, will not have many delegates to watch, only 39 from Ohio committed to Senator Harding. There are probably no more anywhere in sight for him at this writing. But he will hope that the leaders may tramp themselves to death and give the little fellows a chance and like the old gambler who said that as long as a fellow "had a chip he had a chance" Mannington will stick.

Months ago the Harding fellow said they wanted a last ditch delegation and apparently their wish has been granted. Not quite the way in which they asked but granted in part, at least. The delegation will begin in the last ditch and how long 39-48 of it will remain there is what Ohio is waiting to see. If Rudolph K. Hynicka is not given the national committee for another four years five-forty-eights of it will evaporate pretty readily. If he is given the prize the Cincinnati end may use the same sort of submarine tactics it did on the poor, old water-logged helpless Burton boom in 1914 when former Mayor Julius Harshman announced that the delegation would stand loyally by Burton for one ballot, no more, no less. As noted it requires nothing short of a hero to fill a place so much as Mannington must fill and still keep a good nature.

From Chicago intelligence it appears that Col. William Cooper Proctor of Cincinnati is not to permit use of his name in the Senatorship to force Senator Harding into line for General Wood. That does not detract, however from the proposition that if Harding files for the Senatorship he will be considered as having withdrawn from the Presidential stakes. The Harding cohorts are clearly seeking to avoid taking a position but before June 11 they must say where they stand and they know it. The declaration of candidacy cannot be sneaked in to turn up later. It would surprise few if the Senator refrained from asking re-election since his prospects are sadly injured by the grueling battle that he has been thru and another one with Judge Wanamaker is not inviting, especially so since the judge is a catch-as-catch-can scrapper. How much better an appointive job or a vice-presidency!

There is no doubt there were bell-ringing qualities to the pronouncement of Auditor of State A. V. Donahy on the taxation situation because he satisfied the rural element, which is ready to compromise on the traditional uniform rule, as well as the urban desire. Hard to what the stalwart Republican Times-Star, a supporter of classification says:

"No state in the Union has a more old-fashioned or more generally unsatisfactory system of taxation than Ohio. It is a system which has interfered with the development of the state in the past and which threatens unless positive steps are taken to reform it, to produce more acute evils in the future.

"Mr. Donahy's suggestions as to a modified form of classification is worthy of serious consideration. There is an objection, largely theoretical, to putting tax rates into the fundamental law of the state. As a matter of fact, however, under our present plan of direct popular government, it is almost as easy to change the state constitution as it is to make a state law.

"Apparently we can not have classification in the form in which it was offered last year. If we can have it in the form Mr. Donahy suggests it would be better to have it that way than not at all."

It was not to be doubted that many sincere friends of farmers and farm organizations were disappointed this week when the Executive Committee of the Ohio State Grange expressed its entire satisfaction with and leaped to the defense of Prof. Oscar E. Erl of Ohio State University. Altho drawing money from the taxpayers of the state and subject to control only of the President of the University and the board of trustees he has not hesitated to urge higher prices for milk thru a course of years, interfering in matters not in his jurisdiction. The Grange members might have remained in the same hotel in which they held their meeting and learned that another organization was conferring on how to meet questions that arise by reasons of bad and impure milk supplies. The second organization was the group of Hughes law health officials with whom cooperation rather than defense of Erl would have made a wider public appeal.

After all, Judge Willis Vickery of the Court of Appeals of Cuyahoga-county will have his little filing at the Auditor of state, Hon. A. V. Donahy. This old teacher of respect for judicial processes feels that comment on the case would be superfluous at this time but it will say that many judges thought that Judge Vickery should have restrained his passions or given an explanation for the bills which Donahy called excessive. But this advocate of the courts and their integrity hopes to be present in the courtroom when Hon. John Price presents the case to ascertain how well a counsellor at law can cite arguments, facts, and precedents, if any, in which he personally does not believe. There is a lesson in that. Moreover, it may be well to learn just what the law is so that the people of the state can direct their General Assembly to patch up any weak places that allow tax-spenders to run riot in expenses and to that end Judge Vickery may, unconsciously, be performing a public service. Who knows?

Did anyone in Columbus see a mighty concourse of people waiting on Judge Reuben M. Wanamaker to urge him to run for United States Senator? Neither did we. In fact, there was no such demonstration so far as known to the gang that looted around the Neil House and observed the seventh member of the Ohio Supreme Court. Pussyfooting around in his quest for information. Still, the Judge said he would run if the people demanded it and he himself will judge of the demand. Another man of the judge's party commented briefly on these demands that a man run for office. "No one ever demands that another run," he said. "That's all bull." They do say that there is a demand that Wanamaker as the friend of labor do not take himself from the bench, but still there are very few who believe that he could with honor remain on the bench and without tainting the judicial ermine run for office and still retain high judicial station. It would be embarrassing both to the judge and to litigants to have him continue on the court if he wishes to go to the Senate. Formal demand may not be made upon him but if the judge can take a hint from his associates he will be plain Citizen Wanamaker when he runs. If he does not take a hint, watch the other fellows crack him over the head with his clinging to the judgeship while reaching for something else. Such things destroy heroes, they do!

If influential persons can bring about such result Sergeant Charles B. Arwig, of Mansfield, will have no opposition for the Democratic nomination for Treasurer of State. It will be some task for the general "Rudy" Archer to run against him. Arwig is not a man, however, to push himself even if he did lose all of one leg and nearly all of another in the service of the nation on the fields of France. In being pitted against a soldier, neither can Archer complain. The opposition press has been fair and square and considerable of him in his conduct of the office. Had it been so vilified it might have made much of the loss of a ten thousand dollar bond but instead it accepted the word of the Auditor of State that it was an accident and that the Federal Government should replace the bond which has never been found. Therefore, by giving him real opposition the Democrats feel they are breaking no rules, they say.

One may learn something in a study of the Wood-Harding election returns other than the waves of popularity as between the two men or as among the various candidates. The Appeal for Harding was predicted largely upon state pride. It was the forceful argument at the end of the canvass the only one that remained to the sorely pressed managers. In the provinces it probably generated enough energy to put Harding across but it failed woefully as a moving factor in the cities. And there's the point. The city folks have lost that element to a degree which is known as state pride. They have a city civic pride, if they are good citizens. They are Clevelanders, Cincinnatians, Daytonians, Toledoans before they are Ohioans. Does this foretell the time when states shall have disappeared save in geographical terms as meaningless except for location as the Western Reserve or the Virginia Military Lands? Some students think so.

As more news from the primary comes straggling in, the details not told in the official figures, it becomes apparent that many former Democrats voted in the Republican primary. It may be left for the Republican leaders to say whether they are glad of it or proud of it, or just what their feelings are. There are, of course, exceptions to the rule but the large majority of these turn coats never were enthusiastic about the prosecution of the war by the United States.

20 BORN; 33 DIE DURING APRIL

County Health Commissioner Issues Report for Month

The death rate for Allen county in April exceeded the birth rate, according to Alice Pogue, clerk in the office of Dr. J. J. Battar, county health commissioner.

During the past month there were 20 babies born and 33 deaths. Of that number, two deaths were at the District Tubercular hospital and six at the State hospital. Other deaths in the districts outside of the institutions numbered 25.

All vital statistics for the county pass thru the office of the district health commissioner.

Announcement is made that the four cases of scarlet fever at Lafayette are well in hand and no new cases reported. The number of cases of measles among children over the county is also decreasing, according to Miss Pogue.

Arthur Ward dismissed in common pleas court Saturday the suit for $5,000 against his wife's step-father, Frank Greek, alias Frank Craig, in which he charged Greek with coaxing his wife away from him.

Give The Public Value In Roads!

Reading the articles in the technical papers and the daily press we will again emphasize the importance of conserving everything of value in our present streets and roads with a view of giving the taxpayers and the public real value for the public monies to be expended in the programs under consideration in all sections of the country—but upon which program no progress is being made.

In some states recent bids have been as much as $50,000 and $90,000 per mile for an 18-foot road—on the only type of road specified by the State or County Commission—other states are held up due to their bonds being at 5% and must be sold at par. Many mistakes are being made in not adopting types of roadways involving the use of materials that can be used most economically in the location of the proposed project.

It is wrong to consider the use of a material where rail transportation and hauling is out of proportion to the cost of material. It is folly to think of using a standard specification for various states, and even in the same state requirements may and will vary at different localities.

It is time that the public calls a halt on these state officials who thus calmly assume that there is but One Standard Type of Road Construction and that if conditions are not opportune for that type of road, work will be suspended.

Too much stress is often laid on the requirements for a rigid base, where under certain conditions a flexible base could be had at lesser cost and where local material would result in economy and an equally as good type of construction.

The public should demand that the officials give careful consideration to every type after due investigation of:

1. Underlying soil conditions.
2. Drainage.
3. Local material available.
4. Present value of the road as a part of the new construction.
5. Prospective traffic.

So that every dollar available may be used to construct the most miles with least regard to:

1. Initial cost.
2. Durability.
3. Deterioration (maintenance).
4. Relation to maintenance and operating cost of motor vehicles.

Highway engineering is not railroad engineering, but in many instances the layout of blue prints presents a beautiful alignment with carefully plotted railroad curves with all their required functions and with properly balanced cuts and fills to construct which will entirely destroy the stable and well settled roadbed.

The suspension of new work on account of the excessive cost of one certain type of construction and the tedious alleged refinement of preliminary and location surveys will not solve our problems nor give the much desired and demanded miles of good, hard surfaced roads.

Even with today's excessive costs of labor and material, I estimate the following as typical bidding prices on improved asphalt construction laid on a road which in the past has been built of material of real supporting value based on a mile of 18-foot road:

2-inch Asphalt Surface—Maximum, per sq. yd. $2.30
Minimum, per sq. yd. $1.50
Maximum, per sq. yd. $2.50
Minimum, per sq. yd. $1.50
Preparing Macadam or Gravel Base—Maximum, per sq. yd. $.50
Maximum, per mile $5,250
Minimum, per sq. yd. $.20
Minimum, per mile $2,112
Drains, Ditches—Maximum, per sq. yd. $1.00
Maximum, per mile $10,560
Minimum, per sq. yd. $.70
Minimum, per mile $1,056
Total maximum, per sq. yd. $3.32
Total maximum, per sq. mile $48,028
Average, per sq. yd. $30.309.00—yet we have no progress in our road improvement with the daily reports of broken springs, unnecessary blow-outs and delayed traffic to say nothing of the continuous disagreeable features. Adv

REDS STRENGTHEN HOLD ON FIRST PLACE-YANKEES DEFEAT COVELESKIE

CINCY SWATTERS WALLOP PHILS AS BOSTON TUMBLES TO THIRD—QUINN'S HOMER BEATS COVELESKIE FOR FIRST TIME IN EIGHT STARTS

By JOE SCHERRER

The "withering season" is here. Withering is what a cake of ice does under the hot sun, what a row down in the cool days of autumn and in baseball, what a second-rate club in the first division during the early season does as the year progresses and class comes to the surface.

The withering season is on hand in the National league. Class is beginning to tell and already the April sensations are tumbling from their lofty positions and the farm ball clubs are taking their rightful places.

That the days of the second place ball clubs in first division of the Heydler circuit are numbered was evident after the results of Saturday's ball games.

George Stallings' Boston Braves who have been enjoying first-division and even first-place comforts, against all the odds that is obtainable, have been toying lately and Sunday finds the Benetown boys in third place with chances for them to drop into the second group before Monday.

Boston is not the only club which is withering under the grand George Gibson's Pirates are finding the going rough of late and are now just four points ahead of the fifth place Chicago Cubs.

CHICAGO HITS HER STRIDE—GIANTS GOING UP

With the falling of its form of the underlings now at the top of the league the Dodgers and Cubs who according to all which is done should be near the top are regaining real form and will soon be tugging with the Red Sox for the leadership.

Chicago won her sixth straight game Saturday, leading the Braves in a one-sided affair while the Red Sox was handing St. Louis a beating.

In line with the higher ups of the league, John McGraw's Yankees hit the Red Sox for the first time in eight games.

Quinn's homer busts Coveleskie's record. Stan Coveleskie's first defeat of the season came Saturday at the hands of the New York Yankees.

The Yankees were pitching on the home field and the Red Sox were on the road. The Yankees won 10-1.

Neither pitcher followed a run of seven innings and the contest seemed certain to go into extra rounds with New York at bat. The Yankees won 10-1.

But Quinn pulled the most unexpected thing in the world when he hit a home run.

FIRST DEFEAT BEANS DROP TO THIRD PLACE FOR COVIE

NEW YORK—Jack Quinn, veteran Yankee pitcher, won his game here Saturday afternoon from the Cleveland Indians by knocking in a home run in the eighth inning with Budle on base.

The score was 2 to 0. Stanly Coveleskie dropped to first game of the season and it was a heartbreaker.

Besides being a pitcher's battle, the game was marked by brilliant fielding. Special credit was given to the young Yankee shortstop who made two of the most spectacular plays ever on the Polo Grounds.

Babe Ruth got only one crack at the ball and missed. Coveleskie hit him in the head (the) with the second and fanned him the third.

The twins are brothers of Joe Dugan of the Athletics, and the scouts are looking them over this season.

NEHF ALLOWS FOUR HITS

PITTSBURGH—Nehf in superior condition, allowed the locals only four hits and gave the lowly Giants a shut out victory over the locals 2 to 0.

DEFIANCE EXPECTS TO PULL BIG SURPRISE ON LOCAL OUTFIT

"Do not be surprised if Defiance expects all the dope and carries away the ball game," manager Fred Clark of the Defiance ball club cockily told, Bernie Halloran, head of the local team in telephone conversation Saturday regarding the game this afternoon at Murphy's park.

Clark would have Halloran to understand that Defiance has a ball club of no mean ability and that the poorest idea the locals can entertain is that "Defiance will be easy pickings."

"In Dickie Hall, formerly of Toledo, Manager Clark claims the Defiance nine has one of the cleverest hitters in these parts. Hall has worked in three games for the Defiance team this season and has showed better form each time out. He is being counted on heavily by Defiance backers to trim the local club.

On a whole information received Saturday from Defiance was that the visiting team will present a combination of hitters who are able to pound the ball often and hard.

Manager Clark announces his line up as follows: Myers, third, Smith, first, Stevens, catch, Hull, center, Livingston, short, Miller, second, Rohmel, left H. Myers right, Hall, pitcher, Greiner and Greiser utility.

None of the above names are exceptionally familiar to the local bugs. Clark says that considerable Defiance talent is contained in the lineup in addition to several classy performers from Toledo semi-pro circles.

BRING 'EM ON SPIRIT.

Reports of the alleged prowess of the Defiance team have not claimed Halloran. To the contrary, the local pilot says "I hope they have a strong team as Clark claims. Then you will see a real ball game."

Barry, the home-town boy who won his first start against Dayton last Sunday will probably receive the call for this afternoon's game.

Should Barry not stand the grind, Halloran will send Russell Main, an old youngster to the mound.

This Main lad, tho only a youngster, is said to be a whirlwind in the box. He will be given a chance to show his wares and if delivering will be kept on the roster of the local club.

Main is a brother of H. Main, the back hailer from Adz who pitched in last season under the name of "Lance." The old Main is now starting for Bloomington in the Three-L league.

The infield used in the opening game will start this afternoon with the exception of McClelland who will be supplanted at second by Harold Reynolds a local youth. Reynolds was shoved into the game in the final innings of the opening game, batting for Costello. He grounded to short and did not have a chance in the outfield. In amateur games here

Keynote has put up a fair article of ball at the keynote sock and should be able to hold down the job at least temporarily.

Fickle will be on first. Wanta at short and Malloy on third. Costello, Egan and Reynolds will be in the outfield with Bauerline behind the bat.

Cappie Wessell will handle the indicator.

CENTRAL OUTFIT PLAYS SOUTH

The dust will be flying at the College baseball diamonds next Friday afternoon at about 4 o'clock when South and Central are scheduled for the first titular game of the season.

Local baseball enthusiasts are looking forward to this event with great eagerness and zeal. It will mark the first time that the two local schools have ever mixed in the tickery sport.

According to present arrangements of the school officials, there will be a series of three games this season. The team winning two out of three will be awarded the baseball championship of Lima schools.

To say that Friday's game will be an exciting one is putting it mildly. This is the last opportunity for the rival schools to give vent to the spirited antagonism between them for athletic honors.

At present they stand tied in football and basketball. Both nines are going thru extensive training and they are in prime shape for the stellar meet.

Word from the South Hi camp is to the effect that they are ready to the effect that they are ready and confident. Their definite lineup has not yet been given out.

Central's line-up will probably be as follows: Kohl, p; Blunk, c; Edwards, 1b; Krein, 2b; Rev, 3b; Godfrey, cf; Accordeman, lf; Boseker, rf.

CARL TREMAINE COMING CHAMP

Carl Tremaine, Jimmy Dunn's protégé, seems destined to one day wear the bantam weight crown of the world.

The fighting Clevelander who not more than five months ago was grasping the fight cards as a prelude to a night and right now is seriously considered not only in Ohio but also in all boxing states of the union as the logical man to wrest the bantam honors from Pete Herman.

Tremaine has been fighting at a sensational pace the last few months. Frankie Mason furnished the stepping stone to fame for Tremaine when the Cleveland lad uncorked a fusillade of healthy wallops in the first round of their bout several weeks ago and knocked Mason out for the first time in the history of the Indiana scrapper.

Fresh from the Mason victory Tremaine encountered Pal Moore, the New Orleans whirlwind and won by a big margin over the "brainy, speedy, eccentric, clever, shimmying and clownish southerner" as one sport writer describes the win.

Tremaine's victory over the New Orleans crack was a genuine one and places the Ohio lad in the front lines for a bout with Herman if the New Yorker will consent to a battle with Jimmy Dunn's hurricane.

How to be a great fighter manager. Get a good fighter. Make him lick everyone. Then lick the champion. Then make your champion go into the movies and retire as a great handler of fighters.

A minor league umpire is said to have purchased a gutta-percha pop bottle.

GIANTS AND DODGERS MOURN FAILURE TO PULL TRADES

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK—Some of the National League managers who "stood pat" on their line-ups during the winter season are now becoming anxious.

The off-season, the quietest of years, passed without the scent of a trade in the National League. Satisfaction in what they had to make the big 1930 gamble with, was expressed by every manager in the league except Jas. McGraw, who these wise heads of the game were paw-wowing at the Waldorf last winter.

Three managers may now regret they did not shuffle their pedlar's extremities around a little bit more after some reinforcements.

After just about a month's usage, the machines of the Giants, the Robins and the Cubs are making noises varying from a grating rasp to a threatening creak.

McGraw has to have an infield, for or two and he should have another pitcher. Fletcher and Doyle are thru—their best friends know it—and $40,000. Neat and Jess Barras have been a sore disappointment.

The Giants have the best catching staff in the league—Snyder, Gossale, McCarty and Smith. The Pirate, Phils or the Cards could use any one of the quartet and McGraw is known to be working on them for an infielder.

Uncle Wilbert Robinson wants an outfielder. Bernie Neis, the Canadian League youngster looked like the find of years during the training season. Roby tried to change him into a left hand batter and he forgot how to hit from either side.

Ralph DePalma likes America and the shiny American dollar so he asks for his citizenship papers.

RAIN HALTS 56 MAJOR GAMES

Charley Ehlers, squire of Flatbush and check signer of the Brooklyn Robins, whenever he gets the chance around his brother moguls of the major leagues, says:

"The season starts too early. It's a mistake."

The next time George Washington Grant, owner of the Braves may second Charley's motion, for the fickle spring weather has cost George ten games by postponement.

The New York Colonels, Rupert and Huston, may nod in assent too, for rain cut in on the Yank-White Sox series this week and washed away a lot of good dollars. The first two games of the series drew 35,000.

Already in the infant season, the "N. G. T." sign has been hung up in the giant windows of the big time yards 56 times. From the opening day when Cincinnati had snow swept out of the stands for the Red fans, until the middle of May, hardly more than six times has the full daily bill been served.

Twenty-six games were postponed from April 14 to 21, when the ball yards were in varying stages of molting from ankle to knee deep. Thirteen were called off in the last lap of April and so far this month 17 have gone up as makings for double-headers.

"Thank God, the country has some dry. It will bring sunshine to many a home!" said the speaker.

"Yes, and moonshine, too, brother!" answered the skeptic.

SAN FRANCISCO PLANS MEMORIAL

Launches Campaign to Raise $2,500,000 for Great Monument to Heroes of War

SAN FRANCISCO—With a major mass meeting in Exposition Auditorium today San Francisco formally launches a ten-days' campaign during which $2,500,000 will be subscribed for the erection of a magnificent monument to the San Franciscans who fought and died in the World War.

The monument or memorial will be in the form of a magnificent group of buildings to be erected in Van Ness avenue, opposite Civic Center. The buildings are to be dedicated to the memory of San Francisco's fallen war heroes, to Americanization and to art.

It will give the American Legion of this city permanent assembly room, and social quarters. The art museum, which will be housed here, will be a fine memorial to the city's fallen heroes.

Through the cooperation of a citizens' committee, the site for the group of buildings has been secured. It is located on Van Ness avenue between Grove and Grove streets. It is 7 feet in width with a depth of 52 feet in length. The site is owned by the city and has been made available for the general plan and architectural of the buildings, including the national cemetery, has been approved by the city.

The city's plan and the plan of the property will be in the University of California, in the architectural use of the buildings to the people.

One of the group of buildings, the national cemetery and the Van Ness avenue and Grove street corner will be devoted exclusively to the use of the American Legion in the past. There are 17,000 members in San Francisco and a total membership of 1,000.

The California School of Fine Art will occupy the site of the national cemetery on Van Ness and Grove streets corner, where there will be suitable space provision for the city.

FAMINE FOLLOWS IN PATH OF WAR

Children Dying by Thousands in Austria, Hungary, Poland
And Armenia

LONDON.—Continental Europe is to-day paying the full price of the World War.

Children are dying by the hundreds in Austria, Hungary, Poland, Armenia and other stricken sections of starvation. There is no food. They are naked. Their mothers—for thousands of them—are bereft of fathers—are without hope.

These statements are made on the authority of Earl Curzon, Foreign Minister; Lord Robert Cecil, ex-Under Foreign Ministry, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Cardinal Bourne, Lord Weardale and other prominent Britons who are trying to raise $20,000,000 for immediate relief. They say a gigantic movement of starvation is being executed in thousands of towns and villages of Europe "where millions of children are starving and dying. It is not a threatened calamity, but a frightful and active tragedy that is being enacted now, minute by minute."

Their joint statement says thousands have died in the past few weeks and thousands more are on the point of death.

"Cruel cold and famine are stalking among these helpless miles," reads the appeal to Britain, "without clothing, without fire, without shelter, and spreading their miserable agony far and wide. It is a terrible fact that in some districts there is not a child alive under the age of seven years."

"Many of the poor refugees have been stripped of their clothes and left naked to die. Thousands of adults and children have not tasted any normal food for weeks, but have existed on roots and leaves and dandelions. The olive-green color of their skin and deep-sunken openability to their ghastly sufferings. These poor people—mad with hunger—have in some cases eaten the flesh from the bones of their dead comrades."

"In some towns in Central Europe there is no milk, no fat, no meat. Babies who are not fed by their weak, half-starved mothers have no legs but frost-bitten potatoes. In most cases they die. But for greater in the tragedy of those that live in this appalling misery."

The appeal is for the same kind of work that Herbert Hoover has been carrying on to "Save the Children."

"Think of the millions of little ones who are in immediate peril," exhorts the appeal. "Think of the blood ties, of the terrible sacrifices we have made in the war that civilization might be spared, and think that now—in spite of all—the awful aftermath of war is threatening the destiny of mankind in this appalling fashion."

"Plague and disease, stunted babies, shriveled breasts, a sterile earth, hundreds of square miles of country without milk, bread, medicine, and without clothing of any kind—and, above all, the ghastly and lowering figure of starvation smothering babies from their mother's arms and claiming victims every hour."

"This is the tragedy and today is our great opportunity to stay its course."

Lord Weardale is chairman of the British "Save the Children Fund."

Special Steels add Life to the

MAXWELL

These steels are the product of the highly developed Maxwell laboratories, where steels have been studied, analyzed and tested for years.

They are made to Maxwell's own formulae and enable the Maxwell to stand punishment that few cars can meet successfully.

They lessen the task of the engine and make it more responsive, quicker in action and a delight to handle.

These are some of the virtues which have won friends for the Maxwell in ever increasing numbers and give it a longer life than many cars of higher price.

Today there are approximately 400,000 Maxwell's on the world's highways. The year 1920 will add 100,000 more.

THE REASON

I've discovered why the poet
(Or the artist or the scribe.)
Carries such a crop of foliage on his dome;
Why his cranium reminds us
Of the chieftain of a tribe
Who'd be frightened at the sight
Of brush or comb.
It is not the brain protector;
It is not an ornament.
It is not a mark of culture or of grace—
As a source of inspiration
It is never worth a cent—
And it isn't worn to beautify the face.
There are many explanations
Offered by our learned men;
And the most of them are very good ones, BUT—
When a thick and wavy tangle
Adorns the wielder of the pen—
It's because he can't afford to have it cut!

V. G. Hannington.

A New York commissioner advocates a thirty-day boycott on candy to bring down the price of sugar. But, couldn't we do it by wearing overalls? There is as much sense in wearing them for that as there is in wearing them to bring down the price of cotton.

There are more second-hand dress suits on the market now than ever before in the history of the city. The second-hand shops are literally cluttered with them. The reason is that the broad waiters have nearly all lost their jobs.

It begins to look as the Leonard Would.

But, will about Bill Bryan's name lead all the rest?

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT

This day is exceptionally fortunate.

Love affairs have the best possible augury today.

Women will benefit under this rule in every field of activity.

It is a fortunate sign for social entertainments.

YOUR NAME

HAYAKAWA
VARIATIONS—O'Neill, McNeill (c).

MacNeill (c).

RACIAL ORIGIN—Irish.

SOURCE—A given name.

This is one of the oldest family names on record, coming as it does from a land in which the development of family names preceded that in the rest of northern Europe, and being traceable to an origin in an individual person at a very early period.

Family names did not begin to develop in England until slightly before the time of the Norman invasion, and did not develop generally until two or three centuries later. Indeed, as late as the sixteenth century there was a considerable portion of the population of England which had adopted no definite system of family names.

But the name of O'Neill was a family name, or clan name, which is pretty much the same thing, as far back as the fifth century; in that period when the light of Roman civilization and historical record was quenched in the barbarian invasions; but thru which Christianity survived, and strangely enough spread like wildfire thru Ireland, the cut off from its source by the pagan invasions of northern France and England.

Nial, of the Nine Hostages, was the chieftain who welcomed St. Patrick when he first set foot on Irish soil. His name as a warrior would have been sufficient to perpetuate his name as the family property of his followers and descendants, but his further historical fame from this incident made assurance doubly sure.

Many Scottish-Americans bear the name MacNeill, but it must be remembered that Christianity spread first to the north of England and Scotland from Ireland.

Tomorrow—Nejlon.

KEEP THE BOYS EMPLOYED

WHEN school closes next month hundreds of boys who have been plodding along at their lessons for the last eight or nine months will be free for the summer. Many fathers probably have planned some duties for their sons and many probably have not.

With the present high prices many have thought of taking their boys out of school as soon as the law would permit in order that they might help the family in making both ends meet. There seems to be a better way than this and the school youth of this and other cities will not suffer thereby.

When school is over for the year, would it not be a more practical plan to secure employment for the boys, thus keeping them busy and out of mischief during the summer, allowing them to earn money in order that they may continue in school longer, than to take them out for good? Some may argue that children need a rest after the long months in the schoolrooms. A change of occupation is as good as a rest and is far more beneficial to young boys than idleness during which they are to be found on the streets and in places where they perhaps learn things detrimental to them.

Parents should make a special effort to get their boys proper employment during vacation, thus teaching them something useful which in years to come may stand them in good stead. They will also be doing the country and world a service for at this time there is need for every hand at production in order that we may get on a normal basis and reduce the high cost of everything.

A WORTHY CAUSE

A number of persons interested in the welfare work being done by the Lima Rescue Home will go out tomorrow and Tuesday in an effort to raise $28,000, the sum needed to clear the debt on the new building erected by the organization back of this worthy charity work in this city. Public spirited men and women who have an interest in humanity and the welfare of their kind, no matter what their circumstances, will be asked to give as liberally as possible to the fund.

Thru the untiring work of the Rev. and Mrs. A. D. Welty a handsome new building has been erected on E. Wayne-st., where the needy and hungry may find shelter and clean, wholesome food even tho they have not the price with which to purchase it. The organization back of the home has performed a task and is continuing a work that should be encouraged. The good which has resulted can not be measured in dollars and cents and it is to be hoped that there will be none who will refuse the solicitors when they call. It is not necessary to make a large gift; a small one will be appreciated, but it should be as liberal as one's purse will allow. With the debt lifted, the Home will be in a better position to carry on its noble work.

EATING AT HOME GROWING POPULAR

ALONG with the prices of everything else, the cost of eating in restaurants has soared to such dizzy heights that what is a necessity now is almost a luxury if one is to appease his appetite. Especially is this true of what formerly were regarded as popular-priced eating places.

When one thinks of a lunch consisting of a moderate portion of roast beef, a small ice cream dipper of mashed potatoes with a spoonful of gravy, a small cup of coffee, two small rolls and bite of butter and a few strawberries over a small biscuit, costing 75 cents, which is a reality in Lima, the expensiveness of eating in restaurants is apparent.

On the same day that this meal cost 75 cents, roasting beef cost from 22 to 30 cents a pound, only the choice cuts being over 25 cents, potatoes cost $1.20 a peck and strawberries cost 30 to 40 cents a box.

It is true that the cost of labor is up and that food prices are high, but the fact that meals of this kind, which are not elaborate and where one must serve himself are selling at 75 cents is causing many who formerly took their lunches downtown to eat them at home.

MISS LIMA: "Some folk are so zealous about saving that they will spend two pennies to save one."

Parents Versus Children.

A young man who recently left his home in the country to enter one of the great American universities writes, in part, as follows:

"I am nineteen years old and up to this time I have conducted myself as I know my parents would wish, but... the frat... the fellows make a good deal of sport about it and tell me I am going against nature... that there must be something the matter with me... in short, they call me 'nutty'."

"I have enjoyed your stuff in the paper at home and still read it when they send my copies. I don't like to put a question like this to the doctor here... yet I would like to know the truth about this. I want to do the right thing, but I don't want to be known as a 'nut'..."

The actual weakness is the member of the male sex who isn't man enough to be his own master. He falls. He is lower than the beasts. Then he is miserable when he finds a man strong enough to be his own master. He takes a fiendish delight in trying to undermine that man's resolution; he wants to drag down the decent man to his own rotten level. So he connects the most damnable lies such as that of "going against nature." Since when did

The Mystery of the Thirteenth Floor

By Lou Thompson, Former Telegraph Editor of The Lima News

Arriving at Ninety-seventh Street, he dropped off the car before it came to a standstill, thereby causing the conductor to make pointed remarks as to his mental condition. He did not remain to hear them, not caring, perhaps, to investigate his own faults too closely. In a few moments he stopped before the house, which was in quest of. It was very much like the first he had visited, except that it looked a little more prosperous.

He consulted the cards in the vestibule and to his delight discovered one neatly engraved with the name he had sought so long. He tried several of the keys before he found the one he needed, but at last the door opened and he softly climbed the stairs to the third floor. There were two doors on the landing and the neat oblong of pasteboard on one of them again assured him that his goal was reached.

He prayed fervently that the opposite door would not open as he tried the different keys in the lock. There were only two of the Yale keys remaining when he heard a step in the hall of the other apartment. With wild haste he slipped one of them in. The steps came nearer and he heard some one fumbling with the latch. At that instant the key turned under his hand and with a murmured "Thank you," he swiftly opened the door, slipped inside, and closed it softly.

He held his breath as he listened to the closing of the other door and all the sound of footsteps descending the stairs had died away into silence.

It was very dark in the hall where he stood, but he could see a faint glimmer of light in the room at his left, coming, as he rightly surmised, from a window facing the street. He groped his way across and pulled down the shade before he struck a match. Its light revealed a table with an electrolier hanging over it. "In for a penny, in for a pound," he said to himself as he switched on the light.

The room was evidently that of a woman with expensive but untrained taste. The chairs were soft and puffy and covered with pale green satin, the table was crowded with all sorts of little bric-a-brac. On the walls were brightly colored near-ol paintings in heavy gold frames. In the corner was a long couch and over it, hung two wigs, an imitation oriental embroidery of films, silk.

Gregory hardly glanced at these things. He sought, and almost immediately found, a desk—the desk for a sight of which he had looked so much. It stood in the corner by the window—an ugly, ornate affair of curly maple, elaborately carved. He found, to his chagrin, that it was locked. He at once bethought him of the heaven-sent bunch of keys that already proved an open sesame. He examined them carefully and soon found one that looked promising. His efforts with the lock were almost immediately rewarded and the lid fell out and downward to the horizontal.

Inside the desk was fitted with drawers and pigeonholes. "She's never put it where it could be seen if the desk were open," he thought and proceeded at once to examine the contents of the drawers. They were four in number and he started with the lower one on the right-hand side. It contained some old theater programs and newspaper clippings. Of the latter the one on the top was an account of the recent inquest, folded so that the description of the beautiful Miss Daudray was the first thing that met the eye. There was nothing else in the drawer, so he closed it hastily and opened the one above it. Here was a heterogeneous lot of odds and ends—a scolded ribbon, a tarnished silver box of rouge, an old pair of white gloves, a few hair-pins, but no papers of any kind. He tried the other side. The top drawer was full of letters still in their envelopes. He ran through them swiftly, but no secret legal paper met his longing eyes.

There was only one drawer left. He caught the little glass knob in his fingers, but the drawer resisted. He tried again; it would not yield. Bending closer, he discovered a small keyhole under the pull.

"Locked!" he groaned. I might have known it would be.

Once more he examined the serviceable bunch of keys, which had been hanging in the desk lock; but he knew beforehand that none of them was small enough for his purpose. He slipped them into his pocket. "No use leaving any more evidence of my visit than is positively necessary," he thought. "Well, only one more crime to add to the rest. The penalty for breaking it open won't add many years to my sentence." So saying, he picked up from the table a steel paper-cutter and inserted the point in the crack at the top of the drawer.

He pressed with all his strength, but the lock was new and strong and resisted every effort. He wiped the beads of perspiration from his forehead and tried again and again. At last the lock gave with a loud crack and he breathed a sigh of relief as he opened the drawer. There were a number of letters in a writing he had no trouble in recognizing. He tumbled them out hurriedly and saw beneath them a long folded paper. He pounced upon it eagerly and took it over to the light.

As he did so he heard a sound that froze the blood in his veins. He just had time to slip the paper into his inner pocket, when a key turned in the lock and the hall door swung softly open.

DeMille Super-feature Will be

"VIRTUOUS MEN" COMING

Louise Glaum at Regent—William Russell at Rialto

BY ESTHER WAGNER

THIS week's horoscope: The stars incline but do not compel you to remain at home; rather, they invite you to attend your favorite theatre because your favorite theatre has your favorite star. And speaking of favorites, such brilliant ones as Eugene O'Brien, E. K. Lincoln, Grace Darling, Louise Glaum, Gloria Swanson, Thomas Meighan, Constance Talmadge, Bebe Daniels and a host of others will grace local screens during the forthcoming week. The Cecil B. DeMille super-feature "Why Change Your Wife," will be shown at the Faurot all week. It won't be Cecil B. DeMille's fault if we all do not learn sooner or later that there is no one worth living with outside of the one we married. Gloria Swanson is the wife, and one must admit that in Gloria he has something to work with.

Another big feature comes to the Lyric in the form of "Virtuous Men" with E. K. Lincoln and Grace Darling. This picture required an unusually large amount of money and time to produce and from all reports is one of the big pictures of the year.

Louise Glaum has the leading role in "The Lone Wolf's Daughter" at the Regent today and for three days, and is, as usual, alluring. This story is a sequel to "The Lone Wolf," and was written by Louis J. Vance. Rex Beach's "The Silver Horde" will be the attraction extraordinary at the Regent for the remainder of the week. Myrtle Stedman has the leading feminine role and the others in the cast were all personally chosen for their parts by the author himself.

William Russell in "Slam-Bang Jim" at the Rialto today, has a splendid role and the title is illustrative of the nature of the picture. Harry Morey is at the Orpheum today in "In Honor's Web." This is the last attraction at the Orpheum, which closes tonight to re-open on Labor Day.

Eugene O'Brien in "The Perfect Lover" comes to the Majestic theatre today in his first starring vehicle under Selznick.

FAUROT.—Few screen productions of the past decade have achieved the all-around popularity of Cecil B. DeMille's masterly studies of married life and its problems. "Why Change Your Wife," "Don't Change Your Husband," and "For Better, For Worse," are pictures which critics and the public unanimously recognized as masterpieces of the cinema art. And now the fifth of the Paramount-Artcraft super-features at the Faurot, where it opens a week's engagement (this afternoon), takes "Why Change Your Wife"—surpassing the greatest of all portrayals of life within and without the bonds of matrimony. Previous DeMille matrimonial studies have pictured married life from the standpoint of both the man and woman. "Why Change Your Wife" will, inclining to the masculine viewpoint, strike the universal note of appeal which makes it equally popular with both sexes, as was the case with its opposite, "Don't Change Your Husband." Ultra-modernism is the keynote of the thought behind the action, the costuming and the stage setting. Marriage and its problems offers a fascinating field for the motion picture director, but one that is fraught with many dangers for the man who attempts to portray without completely understanding the value of so-called trivialities in the great scheme of matrimony. By virtue of his intensive study of the problem, coupled with his thorough knowledge of mankind, Cecil B. DeMille stands today as the pre-eminent producer of pictures which have that indefinable human touch which makes for really great productions. If there were no other reason for its success—and there are many—"Why Change Your Wife" would stand on the fact that it is from the pen of that veteran and versatile playwright William C. DeMille. Keen understanding of men and women, a delightful delicacy of touch and a subtle sense of humor, are some of the outstanding features of this writer's work, as such stage successes as "The Warrens of Virginia," "Strongheart," "The Woman," and a score of one-act sketches amply testify. In "Why Change Your Wife" the author has produced a story with much human comedy beneath which flows a serious current which gives the author's latest full play. A notable group of stage and film favorites forms the cast of "Why Change Your Wife." Thomas Meighan, who did such magnificent work in Cecil B. DeMille's "Male and Female" and George Loane Tucker's "The Miracle Man," heads the masculine portion of the cast in the role of the husband with Gloria Swanson, the beautiful and talented DeMille actress, playing opposite. Theodore Kosloff, famous Russian dancer and pantomimist, is cast in the role of a violinist of his own nationality, and Babe Daniels of the fascinating half-Oriental personality handles the difficult role of "the other woman."

RECENT.—Louis Joseph Vance's "The Lone Wolf's Daughter," the most powerful of J. Parker Read, Jr.'s Louie Glaum productions, released by W. W. Hodkinson, which comes to the Regent Theatre beginning today, is noteworthy among other things for its remarkable settings that even when void of characters in the story are riotous in color and action.

Much of the action takes place in Soho, the French quarter of London, the Cafe Miram in the picture being typical of the crudely-appointed coffee shops where visitors from across the channel were wont to gather, some to partake of their native dishes and others to feast their eyes upon some poor but beautiful damsel, without whom no Soho inn can be popular or profitable. Sonia (Louise Glaum), who knows nothing of her parentage or past save that Miss Theresa, owner of the cafe, has reared her, is the attraction of the curious Frenchmen. Then the train of powerful incidents in "The Lone Wolf's Daughter" shifts to the Red Moon, ostensibly a low grade eating house in Limehouse, the heart of London's underworld, but in reality the rendezvous of the most desperate band of murderers and plunderers ever assembled to wage battle on law and order. Here Prince Victor (Edwin Stevens), known as "the Emperor," away from his gorgeous estate, wields his power, with all his heartless hirelings pleading for a chance to aid in his scheme to loot the United Kingdom of its wealth and become its dictator. "The Lone Wolf's Daughter," a sequel to "The Lone Wolf" and "False Faces," was produced under the personal supervision of J. Parker Read, Jr.

MAJESTIC.—An opportunity that the screen public has long been waiting for is offered this Sunday and Monday by the Majestic Theatre where Eugene O'Brien can be seen in his first Selznick Picture, "The Perfect Lover."

peciations of the film world—surprised them. Never has he afforded a better opportunity to play his talents than on the screen. Ambitious Selznick whose charming woman can't resist.

According to their reports, and from the tales coming from professional mediums, some of the spirits are "lying spirits" and very deceitful, while others are said to be of the other kind. Of late some of these stories have been given very wide publicity, and evidently there is now about as much interest in this country on the part of the public as there was in Israel under King Saul when he consulted the witch of Endor.

The coming of Mr. A. H. MacMillan, one of the well known Bible exponents of this country, to lecture on "Can the Dead Communicate with the Living?" is at the psychological moment, for it is claimed that Biblically speaking he offers the last and satisfying word on the absorbing questions raised by Sir Oliver Lodge and others, concerning the identification, privileges and powers of spirit beings.

The lecture is under the auspices of the lecture committee of the local International Bible Students Association, who state that there is much interest in the city on the part of all classes and that more than a capacity crowd is expected to be present at Memorial Hall Sunday afternoon.

THE MAN WHO WON

BOOK III—FIND THE TREASURE

HOW KEENE FOUND HIDING PLACE HE HAD FORGOT

By the time Longfield took up the pursuit Keene was well on his way to Bay San Juan. The engineer had rented a swift automobile and by its means had been enabled to catch the early morning newspaper express at a station far up the line. He had succeeded in concealing his movements perfectly. Longfield, however, was not worried by his disappearance. He was sure that Keene would remember where he had concealed the platinum and he supposed that his delay in disposing of it had risen from some difficulty in the negotiations.

At any rate the discoveries of the past few hours would precipitate matters and Longfield had no doubt that if he could get to the place whence the woman had witnessed the fight he would find Keene and the treasure. Barbara Le Moyne had not told him where that place was, but he knew where he met her and she was, he reasoned, a person of sufficient importance for him easily to find where she had camped or otherwise served her. With that knowledge the rest would be easy.

He summoned a half a dozen assistants, gave them explicit instructions, and they all departed the same train that afternoon. They were suitably equipped, of course; they got on the train separately, they carefully refrained from recognizing one another on the journey and they departed at stations before and after the one nearest that for Bay San Juan, in two distinct groups. Their movements, by Longfield's direction, were exceedingly circumspect. One never could tell what suspicious might have been aroused or who would follow them. Longfield, in view of the emergency, had ventured upon the risky act of chartering a special engine and car and preceded them up the line, after he had sent some important wires, one to a certain sequestered harbor not far away where a fast motor boat equipped for a long run lay waiting orders.

When his men arrived at the rendezvous they found Longfield awaiting them with weapons, two automobiles, and Dempsey, the deputy sheriff, whose service he had promptly enlisted. He had easily learned that Dempsey had been the leader of Miss Le Moyne's party. He remembered meeting him the day of his absurd arrest by Barbara Le Moyne. The deputy sheriff had heard Barbara's account and had joined in the search for the missing Keene, on that day of battle. With lapse of time he had come more and more to believe it had never happened, despite the material evidence which had been as difficult to explain away as it had been to solve the mystery. But Longfield's account made it all plain. Whereat Dempsey was glad. His failure had rankled a bit.

Longfield told Dempsey that he was an agent of the United States Secret Service, exhibiting papers that appeared to substantiate his claim; that he was on the trail of a dangerous enemy of the government—the man who had fought and killed the Malays, harmless, inoffensive barbarians, because he feared they might betray his secret—a traitor; and he asked him, as an officer of the law, to assist in thwarting the plan and capturing the person of this man. He knew where he could be found. If Dempsey would show him the place of the battle he would show Dempsey the man. He declared that he would swear out a warrant against him for the murder of the poor Malays and the rest would be easy.

He so inflamed the mind of the honest and worthy, if not very bright official, that Dempsey was ready for anything. He offered to organize a posse, but Longfield declared that was not necessary, as he had available certain deputies of his own, whom he had brought with him. Their preparations took some time, out when they were completed, Dempsey, armed with his warrant, guided them to the place of Barbara's camp, which they reached late at night. He offered at once to lead them to the place of the encounter, which was several miles away.

Now Longfield had also discovered from the station agent that Keene had proceeded him, that he had inquired the way to Bay San Juan, that he had purchased a few supplies, and had ridden off alone that morning on a horse, that he had hired from the local livery stable.

Longfield knew, from the German agents in Siberia, that Keene had brought off and concealed over six thousand pounds of the precious metal. He could not carry it alone. He could not even get it ready for transportation by others in a day; therefore, Longfield decided to wait until morning before tackling further. Keene could not have chartered a boat, and even if he were able to secure help, he would have to come back to the railroad by way of their camp, which was pitched near the trail, or road, so that it would be impossible for him to escape. Carefully apportioning the watches for the night, therefore, Longfield and Dempsey turned in and went to sleep.

Longfield was confident that the next day would see the end of Keene and the beginning of the end of Barbara Le Moyne, though he did not put it exactly in that way. Before he started into the woods he had telegraphed further orders to the concealed motor boat to meet him, reporting its arrival at the nearest port to Bay San Juan railway station. They could take the treasure to the Mexican schooner, cruising off the coast to the southward, in that boat. The cards were all in his own hand; if he played them with only decent skill he could not lose—and he was a master player.

Keene did just what Longfield had conjectured he would. He went on alone out first, before doing anything else. He had no idea that Longfield was in the vicinity. He did not, for a moment, believe the woman would give Longfield any clue. He felt perfectly safe. He had not learned that Longfield had met her in the North Woods shortly after the battle, and that it would be easy for him to find Keene.

It was with the strangest emotion that Keene drew rein on the little plateau where she had come to his assistance. It well indicates his feelings that he thus, at first, identified it, rather than by the battle he had fought or the treasure it had concealed. She had become the dominant fact of life. As he surveyed the clearing it all came back to him. There he had stood when Po-

Van-Pen had made that first furious lunge. There he had grappled with Wan-Anan. Over that cliff he had thrown him. He stepped to the edge and peered down.

A tree, growing far below him near the water's edge, had been uprooted in some autumn storm. Below, amid its roots, he saw a skeleton, or parts of it, of one of the Malays—Po-Yan-Pen himself, or Wan-Anan, possibly—which had lodged there and had been sidder by the tress. Held there by the roots it had not gone out to the sea with the rest. If the old tree had not blown down, the remains might have remained concealed until they moldered away. Some of the bright cloth of the jacket, a part of the shining sarong, a faded headkerchief, caught on the branches, held what was left together and told their tragic tale. He turned away to pleasant things, wondering if, by any chance, those Malays, or Po-Yan-Pen, the leader, had been in German pay.

Here he had fallen only to awake in her arms, so white against the heaven blue above him. There, under that tree, she had dragged him before she left him. He recalled how he had looked and listened. Down that hill he had crawled to the boat. Upon that azure he had been borne away.

As he stared seaward he gave a thought to young Seymour, who had shared all his dangers, who had backed him up with youthful energy and enthusiasm in the long journey from Bakau to within a few days' said of that bay and shallow river below him. If it had not been for the devoted comradeship and loyal support of Seymour, scarcely more than a boy, even he could not have surmounted all the dangers. In keeping watch over white men and brown men and yellow men, strangers all, they had divided the time.

If Seymour had not been treacherously close for last at the imminent close of the long voyage across the Pacific, in sight of the goal or almost, with success practically within their grasp, Po-Yan-Pen would never have dared to attack Keene. He would never have met Barbara. Young Seymour's life seemed to be another of those wondrous ties that bound the men and woman together. And now he slept peacefully beneath the ever-moving waves of the great deep beyond the far horizon.

Longfield? Keene lifted his head and laughed at the thought of him, not mirthfully, but in scorn. As he did so his eyes fell upon the open crest of the overlooking hill not far away—far out of earshot, he noticed as he remembered how she said she had called to warn him and in vain. She must have stood there. He stared up at it and laughed again, but differently, this time in sheer gladness of heart. He would go up there later. He would stand where she had stood. He would kiss the spot her feet had hallowed. A traitor, he? His brow clouded at the accusation. He had brought that platinum across the world for the United States. Why had he hidden it? For safety, its safety and his own. He knew that he had been under surveillance, that Ger-had escaped a thousand dangers narrowly, that it was one thing to bring the platinum to the land and another to deliver it to the government, unimpeded. Fate had driven him into this desolate bay to this lonely shore. He had been compelled to conceal it, till he met some responsible agent of the government with whom to arrange for its reception.

Besides, he wished the pleasure of giving it in his own way. He had no bargain to make with his country—oh, no. The government could have it for whatever it chose to pay toward the expense of bringing it overseas, or for nothing, after he had led its agents to the place of concealment and had said, "There it is, take it." Of course, now that Seymour was dead, he felt morally bound to see that his comrade's old and dependent mother, back East, got something out of it for her future living. But that would be easy. He, himself, scorned to profiteer.

So, for himself, he did not care. To do the thing was reward enough. At least he had not cared until he discovered he loved Barbara Le Moyne. She was rich, not fabulously so, but sufficiently so for luxurious independence. He would have her give him that and for interest on the obligation he would return her the world and the treasure thereby. With her he could do anything. His memory returned to him completely now. He planned the forest path, penetrated the deep recesses unerringly, marveling that he had ever forgot, until he stopped before the vine-covered mouth of the cave, or niche in the rock, which he had chanced upon and where he had concealed his treasure. With hands that did tremble a little he quickly lifted the vine so as not to break the screen, moved the earth, cleared away the debris and peered within.

NEW RED REVOLT DRIVE IN GERMANY

Mecklenburg is Center of Agitation for Death of Landowners and Families.

LONDON.—German communists are planning a new insurrection which may be attended by wholesale murders, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, quoting a statement by Herr Von Graefe, conservative member of the reichstag.

The dispatch says Herr Von Graefe has advised the ministry of defense, that meetings of communists are being held regularly in Mecklenburg and that the question whether land owners alone should be put to death or whether their wives and children should meet a like fate in being discussed. He maintains, it is said, that there is no doubt Mecklenburg will be the scene of frightful slaughter.

STRIKING BARBERS TO PROTECT REGULAR PATRONS

NEW YORK.—Union barbers in New York who have voted to strike on Monday for higher wages have decided to protect the innocent party in the controversy, the well known public, as much as possible.

Any man who wants a shave, hair cut, massage or shampoo has only to telephone to union headquarters and a barber will shortly appear at the home, club or store, according to Leon Weithall, president of the union.

The barbers will charge only the usual fee for the de luxe home service.

How Iron In The Blood Helps Push You Forward To Health, Success and Power

While Lack of Iron May Drag You Backward To the Depths Of Weakness, Ill-Health and Despair—Physician Explains Why

Men Of Iron Will, Strong Determination and Purposeful Action are Men of Blood and Iron—

THE KIND OF MEN ORGANIC IRON—LIKE NUXATED IRON—HELPS MAKE

By Building Red Blood, Strength and Endurance

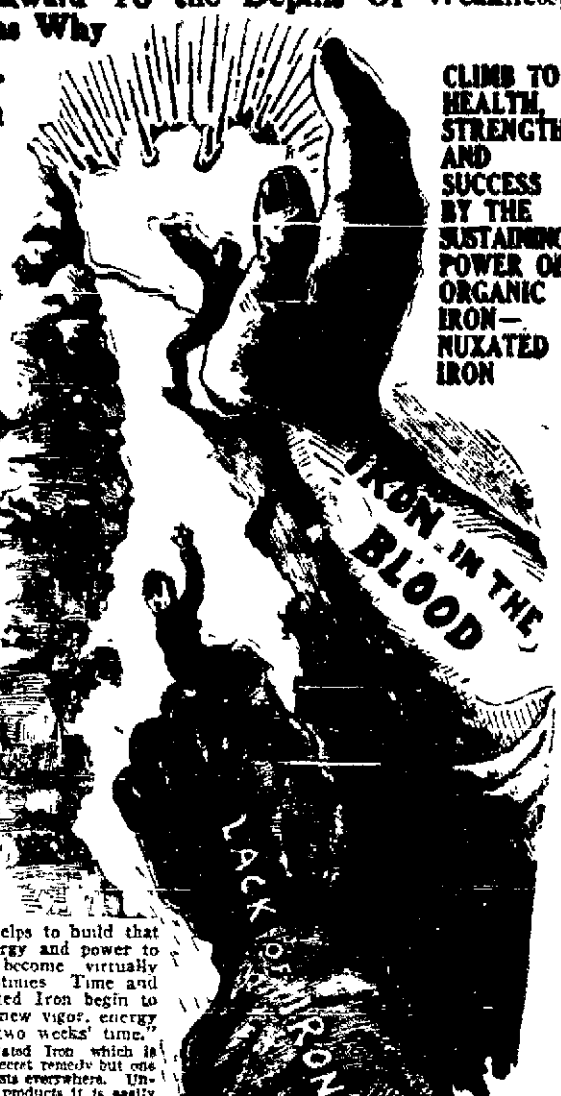

"There are thousands of men who can look back to the time when they seemed to be on the road to success yet who today are nervous wrecks, business failures and physical and mental weaklings, all through a lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles," says Dr. H. B. Vail, formerly Physician in the Baltimore Hospital and a Medical Examiner. "They have lost sight of the fact that a sound, strong body, brimming over with vital force and energy is the basis of all real achievement and as a result they are breaking down, at a time when they should be enjoying that perfect bodily health which cries defiance to failure and disease. Yet the moment they get the right kind of iron in their blood to give increased strength and endurance, they gain physical poise and fitness, mental alertness and the tireless energy that carries them to the top. I strongly advise every man who is fagged out by worry, long hours and overwork to build up his strength, energy and endurance by taking some form of organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for I consider it one of the foremost blood and body builders, the best to which I have ever had recourse."

Dr. John J. Van Horne, formerly Medical Inspector and Clinical Physician, on the Board of Health of New York City, says: "Weakened by the heavy drains upon their nerve force and physical strength, many men are held back in life by lack of iron in the blood. Their thin, pale, watery blood has utterly lost the power to send energy and power through the body and as a result they are lacking in strength and endurance and are forced to drop back among the weaklings and failures—scarcely because their blood is heavily saturated for health giving iron. Today, it is red blood—rich in iron—which Nuxated Iron helps to build that gives men the force, energy and power to conquer obstacles and become virtually masters of their own destinies. Time and again I have seen Nuxated Iron begin to give weak, nervous men new vigor, energy and endurance in only two weeks' time."

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron which is recommended above, is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated and does not irritate the stomach, make them black, nor upset the stomach. Each tablet of genuine Nuxated Iron is stamped as follows: "Nuxated Iron" and the words "Nuxated Iron" are stamped into the metal surface so that the public may not be led into accepting inferior substitutes. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser for they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

Miklantz Pharmacy, Red Cross Drug Store, Hunter's Drug Stores, Interurban Drug Store and all good druggists.

LIMA, O.

It is intensely interesting to observe the close similarity in the performance of Dort cars in every section of the country.

There is a very striking and significant sameness to all reports that come to us from owners.

Such a situation is possible only when the cars themselves are designed and built with unvarying adherence to set and certain manufacturing practices.

It can be regarded as undeniable evidence of the thorough care and exact skill which surrounds every process in the production of a Dort.

And it assures every Dort owner equally excellent and thrifty performance, apart from the slight differences that must be credited to the care the car receives or the conditions under which it operates.

WOOLEY PROPERTY TURNED OVER

Miss Michael, Housekeeper, Gives Bond in Replevin

Miss Maude Michael, former housekeeper for Joseph Willey, late of 213 W. Market-st., took over the household goods and automobile Saturday last by Wooley on his premises, at his death.

A week ago Miss Michael sought to replevin the goods, when she died in common pleas court to compel R. E. Davis, administrator of the Wooley estate, to turn over the goods to her, temporarily.

This was but a legal transaction, as the administrator will be a witness that Wooley told him he had intended all his effects should go to Miss Michael, it is said.

Miss Michael gave bond in the sum of $12,000. Among those who signed it were Miss Michael, her father, J. S. Michael, D. H. Tolman, Rev. J. M. Mills, Jacob Piper, Dr. J. K. Baanister, C. C. Williams and Otis E. Davis.

Failure to find a will Wooley is supposed to have left after his death making Miss Michael the only beneficiary caused the case to be taken to the courts.

Trial of the case to have the court award her the household goods and automobile permanently, will be held some time this summer.

Short Shavings

This friends noticed that the dentist was looking blue and inquired, "What's the matter, for?"

"Why, I've had a root canal tooth like that."

and yesterday it got so bad I had to pull it out of me."

"Did you get a root?"

"Oh, yes."

"Then why this grinch?"

"Why this grinch? Because you know, I once got $100 for treating a tooth like that."

The visitor to the lawyer's office stood in amazement.

"I say, old man," he exclaimed, "Why do you look so blue?"

"Had a motor smash or what?"

The lawyer shook his head wearily as he gingerly touched his bruised and bandaged face.

"No, you remember that case the other day when I defended a man charged with assault?"

"Well, I found a strong plea for him on the ground that he was a fool rather than a criminal."

"Yes, but—"

"I did it so well that he was acquitted and he waited for me out in the court."

A salesman was showing an elderly lady the virtues of the car he was selling.

He made many turns and at the proper times extended his arm as a turning signal.

The old lady watched the procession. In a few moments she saw the car come around her neck and looked at the salesman.

"What?" he said, "I only turned him on the shoulder. You just bend to your driving. It don't look like you know, but it don't look like you know."

Velie 5-Passenger Six, Model 34

A Thoroughbred Velie
at a Lower Price

INTO a famous family of cars, with proud and superior lineage, has come the new Velie 34. Built to maintain the reputation which Velie holds in a world-wide market. Backed by one of America's most substantial organizations with more than half a century of manufacturing success.

We have long recognized the need for a sturdy, powerful, roomy Six, of conservative wheel-base, economical to a degree heretofore unknown, completely and satisfyingly equipped and, above all, with quality and beauty as its foremost essentials—at a lower price.

We now offer this Velie 34 as the realization of that need. A stylish, up-to-the-minute Light Six, with abundant power for any road and grade, with plenty of room for five adults without crowding; with complete equipment; at a price that gives the buyer who prefers a superior car a new opportunity to realize his ideals.

No essential of Velie quality has been sacrificed. Here you find a sure and silent six-cylinder power plant giving the performance that has made Velie cars famous. A long, graceful, roomy body of solid construction and distinctive appearance. Deep-tilted, restful upholstery, plaited in genuine leather, and a silver-like gleam from the Velie lasting mirror finish. Here is a car that you will be proud of in any company. A value that, at its figure, you will find it difficult, if possible, to equal.

Five Large Velie Models
Open and Closed

In addition to Model 34, the five larger models of the 1920 Velie line have won a remarkable reputation for their distinctive style and silent flexible power. The 48 line includes Touring Car, Sedan, Coupe, Roadster and Speedster—a car for every need or preference.
